CONTINUITY AFTER DEATH OF BODY

Sir Oliver Lodge Delivers Inaugural Address at Meeting of British Association at Birmingham.

SCIENTIST TELLS OF RECENT RESEARCH

Occurrences Now Regarded as So Occult May Be Reduced to Order by Methods of Science.

BIRMINGHAM, Eng., Sept. 10.—Sir Oliver Lodge delivered the inaugural address at the meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science at Central Hall tonight. The hall was crowded to its capacity with men and women.

A presidential address before the British association seldom has been awaited with such eagerness on the part of the general public as that delivered tonight. The leading scientists of the world were in the audience, including Mme. Curie, the co-discoverer with her late husband or radium, and fifty other great foreign savants.

Usually such addresses are too scientific to appeal to popular taste, but it was known that Sir Oliver Lodge was to deal with the mystery of after life, and the question of the persistence of personality of after death, and avowing his belief in after life, the speaker went further than any scientist had gone towards answering a question so profoundly interesting to the mass of mankind.

The address was listened to with impressive silence, which was broken only by the murmur of half-suppressed laughter or little outbursts of applause.

Sir Oliver's Address

Speaking on the subject of "Continuity," Sir Oliver touched upon the question of life after death. Published forecasts of the address intimated startling statements.

Sir Oliver summarized his address, and in his own words his argument was a marked feature of the present scientific era of the discovery and interest of various kinds of ananomism, so that the continuity seems in danger of being lost sight of.

Another tendency is toward comparative negative generalizations from a limited point of view; another is to take refuge in the vague forms of statement; another is to deny the existence of anything which makes no appeal to organs of sense and no ready response to laboratory experiment.

Against these tendencies Sir Oliver contends. He argues a belief in ultimate continuity as essential to science, he regards scientific concentration as an adequate basis for philosophic generalization, he believes that obscure phenomena may be expressed, if properly faced, and points out that the nonappearance of anything perfectly uniform and omnipresent is only what should be expected, and is no argument against its real, substantial existence.

Question of Life After Death

In conclusion, Sir Oliver touched upon the question of life after death. He declared his conviction that "Occurrences, now regarded as so occult, can be examined and reduced to order by the methods of science, carefully and persistently applied"; and that "Already the facts so examined have convinced me that memory and affection are not limited to that association with matter by which alone they can manifest themselves here and now, and that personality persists beyond bodily death."

Sir Oliver further declared the "evidence, to my mind, goes to prove that discarnate intelligence, under certain conditions, may interact with and use the material side," and that "We may hope to attain some understanding of the nature of a larger, perhaps ethereal existence, and of the conditions regulating intercourse across the chasm."

Era of Progress

In the course of his remarks leading up to these interesting declarations, Sir Oliver said:

"Eliminating from our view, as is always necessary, a great mass of human activity, and limiting ourselves to a scrutiny on the side of pure science alone, let us ask what, in the main, is the characteristic of the promising, though perturbing, period in which we live? Different persons would give dif-

DEMANDS OF MILITANTS

Want Votes for Women of Ulster Under Constitution Being Prepared by Sir Edward Carson

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The Women's Social and Political Union is planning to make things uncomfortable for Sir Edward Carson and his colleagues if they fail to make provision for votes for women in the national constitution they are drafting for Ulster.

In a letter to the Ulster leader, the suffragettes put themselves on record as follows:

"You and your colleagues and supporters are forming an Ulster government and preparing an armed rebellion as a protest against being under a system of government to which you do not give your consent. It is precisely on the same principle that the militant suffragette organization refuses to submit to a government without the consent of women, either in Ulster or in any other part of the Kingdom."

ATTACK ON MINISTER

Action of Australian Attorney-General in Marconi Case Criticized in Parliament

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Sept. 10.—A motion was brought forward yesterday in the House of Representatives attacking Hon. W. R. Irvine, the Attorney-General, for holding a general retainer on behalf of the Marconi Company while an action is pending by the company against the Commonwealth.

Mr. Irvine explained that he had not the slightest interest in the company.

Eventually the motion was defeated by the normal government majority of one. Mr. Irvine himself recorded his vote.

Village Almost Wiped Out

NORTH BAY, Ont., Sept. 10.—Dieux Riviers, a small village on the Canadian Pacific Railway, 67 miles east of North Bay, was practically wiped out by a fire yesterday. The blaze started in the supply headquarters of Hawkesbury Lumber Company.

WILL BE MODERN IN ALL RESPECTS

Mr. Burbidge Speaks of Store Building to Be Erected by Hudson's Bay Company—Ornamental Structure.

"Before I take a holiday, it is my intention to see the first sod turned in the work of preparing a site for the new Victoria Hudson's Bay Company's home."

So said Mr. H. E. Burbidge, stores commissioner of that company, in conversation last night. Mr. Burbidge spoke enthusiastically regarding the local project. He declared that since his initial tour of the West he has been profoundly impressed with the scope for extension in two growing cities. These centres were Calgary and Victoria. The former enterprise was complete. It stood, he believed he could say without exaggeration, one of the finest mercantile establishments in the Canadian West. That designed for this city would certainly be as good, and, probably, as new ideas were being promulgated every day, would be an improvement in not a few respects over that of the prairie metropolis.

"The people of Victoria," Mr. Burbidge continued, "appear to think that a work such as we propose can be got under way in a few days. A little reflection will show that this is not the case. The first important question is that of the plans. Then there are innumerable details that follow, all of which must be dealt with and conclusively disposed of before it is possible to proceed. I am happy to say that we are ready for action now, however. The plans are completed and are approved. They are in the hands of a representative of Burke, Harwood & White, our architects, whom I am to meet in Vancouver tomorrow. There we will discuss some matters relative to the Vancouver block, after which we will return to this city."

Extensive Block

Mr. Burbidge stated that he had not finally disposed of the excavation contract. He had the tenders in his pocket, and the award would be made very shortly. He went on to say that the local block, which will have a 240 foot frontage on Douglas Street, running through from Fisguard to Herald

MEXICAN ENVOY AT WASHINGTON

Considerable Mystery Continues to Surround Object of Senor de Zamacona's Visit to Capital.

MAY DISCUSS LOAN TO HUERTA GOVERNMENT

Provisional President Instructs Governors to Take Steps to Prevent Disorders on Independence Day.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 10.—Senor Manuel de Zamacona, former Mexican Ambassador to the United States, who is supposed to be charged with the task of re-opening the negotiations between the United States and the Huerta Administration for a peaceful solution of the trouble in Mexico, remained in seclusion tonight with Senor Algara, charge d' affaires of the Mexican Embassy.

Senor Zamacona did not reveal the character of his mission. He maintained that he had come to the United States "on private business."

From private sources it is known that the Mexican Government made it known recently that if it should be agreeable to the United States Government to have Senor Zamacona settle some of the points in dispute, it would be willing to do so.

It is understood Senor de Zamacona was in communication tonight with the Mexican authorities, and is prepared to go to New York to talk to American bankers about the prospect of a loan to the Huerta Government.

Mission a Mystery

About the White House it was stated that no word had been heard directly or indirectly from Senor Zamacona. President Wilson, in fact, is planning to leave here tomorrow afternoon for Cornish, N. H., the Summer capital, for a week's vacation. In that time it is believed Senor Zamacona's mission will be made clear.

Much mystery was maintained by the Mexican Embassy concerning the visit. On the latter's arrival, he immediately telephoned Senor Algara, and went to the Embassy. Several reporters saw him enter there. On the telephone, a few minutes later, Senor Algara denied that he had seen Senor Zamacona, or knew anything about his whereabouts. Not long afterwards, both Senor Algara and Senor Zamacona left the Embassy, and spent the evening together.

SIR WM. WHYTE ON AGRICULTURE

Says Canada Presents a Travesty in Being a Farming Country and Yet Importing So Much Foreign Produce.

PLEADS STRONGLY FOR MIXED INDUSTRY

"I think it is the greatest possible travesty of things that in Canada, an essentially farming country, we have to go elsewhere for so much of our agricultural needs."

That sentence is quoted from a statement made to The Colonist last night by Sir William Whyte, director of the C. P. R., who arrived in the city yesterday on board the Empress of Asia together with the members of the party which came West with Sir Thomas Shaughnessy.

"This great Western land of ours will not come into its own, nor will the entire country enjoy that measure of prosperity which it is entitled to enjoy, until farming assumes a more diversified form than it has at present. Canada has specialized in grain, and in that regard she has shown the world what she can do in the way of production—this present year she will show it again—but that does not satisfy me. What we want here, and must have in order to give things a more equal balance and a more stable foundation is a diversification of farming. Instead of concentrating our energies from one end of the country to the other upon the production of grain purely and simply, I want to see time and attention devoted to the raising of cattle, to the breeding of horses, the cultivation of mixed products in general. I believe that in the long run it will be not only more profitable for the farmer, but more economical for the nation.

IMMIGRATION POLICY

Movement Will Be Confined to People Who Propose to Settle at Once Upon Land

OTTAWA, Sept. 10.—Mr. J. O. Smith, chief immigration officer for Canada in London, is in Ottawa for a day or so after a trip through the Canadian West. He will sail from Montreal for England on Friday.

Mr. Smith says that for the first time in seven years it will be the policy of the department this Autumn and Winter to confine the immigration movement to certain people who propose to settle at once upon the land. Artisans will be advised not to take passage unless they are certain of work on this side of the water, and those who are inclined to seek positions of any kind will be advised to wait until the Spring.

Mr. Smith announced that it is the intention of the department to open a Canadian immigration office at Copenhagen, Denmark.

RETAINS CHAIRMANSHIP

Report That Hon. Clifford Sifton Will Retire From Conservation Commission Not Credited at Ottawa

OTTAWA, Sept. 10.—The report that Hon. Clifford Sifton will retire from the chairmanship of the Commission of Conservation is not generally credited here. Members of the Government and officials of the department say that if Mr. Sifton intends to drop out he has not yet said anything about it. It is generally believed that he will continue in the post for some time to come.

When Mr. Sifton does drop out, be it soon or late, it is likely that a permanent paid chairman will be appointed by the Government.

Run Down by Freight Train

KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 10.—John A. Drummond, of the firm of James Richardson & Sons, was killed this morning when a Canadian Pacific Railway freight train struck him as he was giving orders to have some cars loaded with coal. He was at one time a member of the Manitoba Legislature.

UNITED STATES BANKING REFORM

The London Times Comments on Currency Bill—Declares Present System Is Most Inadequate on Earth.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—"The American currency bill," says The Times this morning, "is an attempt to reform the banking and currency system, which the committee describes as responsible for the financial panics of the last fifty years. It is not a little singular that the United States, a nation pre-eminently of business men, should have been markedly unhappy in its political treatment of business questions.

"After whole decades of experiment and discussions, Americans, still finding themselves saddled with the most cramping, antiquated and inadequate banking system on earth, are still distracted by the difficulties of providing a stable financial basis for their traders and are still almost as far as ever from establishing fixed and reasonable relations between the constitution and the public interests on the one hand and the requirements and developments of modern commerce on the other."

MINISTER ENTERTAINED

Hon. Mr. Pelletier Guest at Luncheon Given by Canadian Club at Moose Jaw

MOOSE JAW, Sask., Sept. 10.—Hon. L. P. Pelletier, Postmaster-General, spent some hours in the city today, and was the guest of the Canadian Club at luncheon, when fifty citizens sat down at the Royal George Hotel.

Mr. Pelletier, in a speech, dwelt mostly on his newly-gathered Western impressions.

A deputation of letter-carriers and mail clerks waited on the Postmaster-General with regard to service and betterment in that department.

Mr. Pelletier and party left in the evening for Regina.

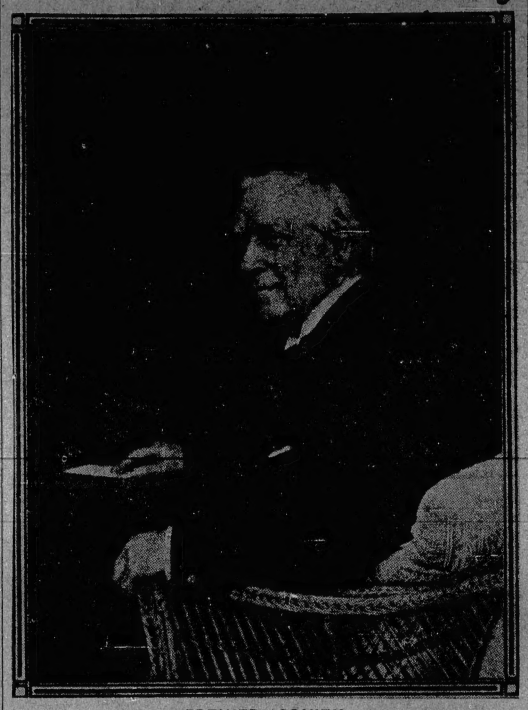

Transcontinental Trains.

VANCOUVER, Sept. 10.—Mr. F. W. Peters, general superintendent of the British Columbia division of the C. P. R., who returned last night from Winnipeg, said it was probable that one of the through trains would be discontinued after October 5, when the new time table comes into effect. When the extra overland trains are discontinued, leaving three regular transcontinental trains, the Kamloops local service will be resumed.

ISSUES AN APPEAL

LONDON, Sept. 11.—Earl Loreburn, for six years Lord Chancellor under the Liberal Government, in a long letter to The Times, appeals to both parties in the state for a conference with a view to the settlement of the Irish question by consent, on the ground that the present Home Rule Bill cannot provide a permanent solution.

PROSPECTOR MISSING

Aylmer Man Believed to Have Been Victim of Eskimos in the Far North

OTTAWA, Sept. 10.—The Evening Journal in connection with the murder of the explorers, Radford and Street, by Eskimos, says that a strange coincidence is the belief that another man named Street, who belongs to Aylmer, Que., has also perished, or has been murdered in the Arctic. He has not been heard of for a considerable time and the Mounted Police are now searching for him.

It was at first thought that this was the Street connected with Radford, but it has been ascertained that he is about 55 years of age, and has been in the Arctic prospecting for a number of years.

Ontario's Mineral Output

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 10.—Ontario's mineral production for the first six months of this year shows a large increase. From returns made to the Bureau of Mines, the gain in metalliferous ores amounted to about $3,250,000, the total being $18,598,804.

GREAT SCIENTIST IS PROBING DEEP

Sir Oliver Lodge Gives Timely Expression to His Views on the Ultimate Unity of Faith and Science.

REMARKABLE ARTICLE IN LONDON JOURNAL

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Sir Oliver Lodge has given timely expression to his views on the ultimate unity of faith and science in this week's Christian Commonwealth.

Among a number of questions put to him was the inquiry:

"Has recent scientific investigation, particularly inquiry into the constitution of matter and the origin and nature of life, made it easier to believe in God?"

"Belief has not been made easier," was the reply, "but has been made fuller and truer and more real. For this the effect of knowledge often has "different, even an opposite effect from superficial knowledge."

Scientific Knowledge

Asked whether he thought the world was near a demonstration of the human personality's survival after bodily death, he answered:

"Yes, certainly, and that which has been in the past a matter of religious faith will become in the future a matter of scientific knowledge. I do not say that proof is crucially complete as yet, but the evidence is so exceedingly strong that only by mental contortion can its cogency be evaded. Demonstration can not be based on any single instance or any one group of facts, but it will be the cumulative result of a great mass of gradually acquired experience."

What are the sealed scientific conclusions regarding psychological research?" was asked.

REMAND IN FIVE EXTENSION CASES

Charges of Rioting, Intimidation and Being in Possession of Stolen Property Heard at Nanaimo.

NANAIMO, Sept. 10.—Only five cases arising out of recent rioting were heard by Magistrate Simpson today, accused being represented by Mr. Ellier, of Bird, Leighton & Darling, while Mr. Shoebotham was present in the capacity of Crown prosecutor.

Alexander Hunter, charged with rioting at Extension on August 13 and 14, was remanded for eight days, and C. Bartholemew was also remanded for eight days on a similar charge.

Steve Melzer was charged with the intimidation of John Weeks and Enoch Francis on September 5, and was remanded until Saturday next.

F. Dechene and John Harker were charged with being in possession of property known by them to have been stolen and being the property of persons whose homes were looted during the riot at Extension on August 13 and 14, and were remanded for eight days.

The local police today took into charge Thomas J. Shenton, Wm. Martin, Goreto Cerrare and Vatine Calsie, all of whom will be charged with intimidation.

Death of Dr. H. B. Runnals

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 10.—Word was received here this afternoon of the death last night at Melbont, Pierce County, of Dr. Harry Boyle Runnals, well known to many old-time Klondikers as former chief surgeon for the Northwest Mounted Police in the Yukon and later as chief surgeon for the White Pass & Yukon Railway. He was 59 years old and had been ill only two weeks.

This Season's Great Yield of Grain, Based on Prices Now Prevailing, Will Net Farmers $170,000,000.

QUANTITY AND QUALITY ESTABLISH RECORD

Retiring President of Winnipeg Exchange Urges Growers to Provide Storage Facilities for Portion of Crops.

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 10.—That the crop of 1913 will total 200,000,000 bushels was the statement made by Mr. Andrew Kelly, retiring president, at the annual meeting of the Grain Exchange today. In the course of his address Mr. Kelly said:

"If the farmers could be educated to provide storage for 50 per cent of the grain they produce, it would be of great benefit to the Western Provinces. We have just about finished harvesting the crop of 1913, which is conceded to be a record one, so far as quantity and quality is concerned. I expect our wheat crop will run well over 200,000,000 bushels. Oats about the same as last year, and barley about 35,000,000 bushels, and flax about 15,000,000 bushels.

"Based on the present prices, the crop should net the farmers $170,000,000, a wonderful showing, considering that only 12 per cent of our land is under cultivation."

Will Aid Farmers

Mr. Kelly pointed out that up till now mixing of the grain would not be allowed, and the lack of a sampling market caused the spread between the highest and the lowest grades of wheat. However, he said, the Government was considering the establishing of a sample market and allowing mixing under certain conditions. This would be a great benefit to the farmers.

Mr. Kelly referred to the terminal elevators being provided by the Government, and stated that the Government should go a step further and introduce some system whereby they could educate the farmers to provide storage facilities for at least 50 per cent of their crop. This would enable them to hold part of their crop on the farms, and not rush it upon the market in the short space of two or three months, causing railway and elevator blockades, to say nothing of depressing prices. If they would distribute the crop over a larger period the average price would be considerably higher.

Following the business session, at which many amendments were considered, the officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Mr. Alvin K. Godfrey; vice-president, Mr. S. T. Smith; secretary-treasurer, Mr. C. N. Bell.

Big Shipment of Grain

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Sept. 10.—The first big shipment of the 1913 crop reached here yesterday in the shape of 500 carloads of mixed grain.

This grain, despite the fact that it is shipped from various points, graded No. 1 Northern. In view of the coming rush, the officials here lost no time in shipping as much of it as possible East. The steamer James Carruthers cleared Fort William last night with a cargo of 60,000 bushels. The Assiniboia, which left here Monday night, is also laden with 10,000 bushels.

For Ontario Mills

GODERICH, Ont., Sept. 10.—The first cargo shipment of this year's Manitoba grain crop was unloaded yesterday at the transit elevator, Goderich. It consists of No. 1 Northern, consigned for account of James Richardson & Sons, Toronto, and is being shipped direct to the milling trade of Western Ontario, the first cars going to Chatham, Ayr, Exeter and Lucan. The sample is excellent, the berry small and flinty and testing sixty-five pounds to the bushel.

Leading Grain on Prairies

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 10.—This year, the Canadian Pacific starts off with 40,000 cars and 1,171 engines to handle the grain crop on the company's Western lines.

There is a very large increase over the rolling stock available last Fall, as Mr. A. Hatton, superintendent of car service, states that the number of box cars has been increased from 28,

BRITISH AIRMAN'S NARROW ESCAPE

Machine Turns Four Somersaults in the Air, but Pilot Succeeds in Volplaning to Safety.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—An airman, named Kent, attached to the Royal Air Craft factory, had a marvelous escape from death yesterday, near Farnham.

When at a height of 2,000 feet, his engine stopped, and he lost control of his machine. Spectators were amazed to see the machine turn completely over four times, then with the utmost difficulty, the airman regained control of the machine, and succeeded in descending safely and landing close to the edge of a pond.

An eye-witness says that when the machine turned over, it seemed to flounder helplessly, but that when within about 100 feet of the ground, the pilot got his engine started again, planed up a short distance, and then descended in a very steep spiral volplane.

After landing, Kent appeared much shaken, and remarked: "I thought I was gone for sure that time."

He soon recovered from the shock, however, and after his engine had been attended to, resumed his flight.

CONTINUITY AFTER DEATH OF BODY

ferent answers, but the answer I venture to give is: Rapid progress, combined with fundamental scepticism."

"With the realization of the production of ether waves in 1888, the discovery of the X-rays in 1895, spontaneous radio-activity in 1896, and the isolation of the electron in 1898, execution of further achievement became vivid, and novelties, experimental, theoritical and speculative, have been showered upon us ever since this century began. That is why I speak of rapid progress."

Sir Oliver explained that by fundamental scepticism he did not mean the "well-worn and almost antique theme of theological scepticism." That controversy was practically in abeyance just now.

"In physiology, conflict ranges around vitalism," he said, "in chemistry the debate concerns atomic structure. In biology the dispute is on the laws of inheritance. In economic and political science, or sociology, what is there not under discussion? In the vast group of mathematical and physical science, presence-day criticism concerns what, if I had to express it in one word I should call continuity.

An Age of Questioning

"Philosophers have begun to question some of the larger generalizations of science. No philosophers only, but scientific men also; and ancient postulates are being pulled up by the roots.

"In most parts of physics, simplicity has sooner or later to give place to complexity; though certainly I urge that the simple laws were true. The law is not really destroyed, but is modified through the action of a known additional cause. Hence it is in the direction of progress.

"If we had to summarise the main trend of physical controversy I should feel inclined to urge that it largely turns on the question as to which way ultimate victory lies in the fight between continuity and distinuity."

Sir Oliver then discussed the atomic theory at length, which he said "might be explained as an invasion of matter into the unsuspected regions," and also the controversial topic of the principle of relativity.

"If that principle establishes itself," he said, "it would seem as though even time would become discontinuous and be supplied in atoms, as money is doled out in pence or centimes, instead of continuously. In which case, our customary existence will turn out to be more really continuous than the events on a cinematograph screen—while that great agent of continuity, the ether of space, will be relegated to the museum of historical curiosity."

Sir Oliver then discussed at length the difficulties that lie in experiments on the ether, and the results to date.

"The ether of space," he said, "is at least the great engine of continuity. It may be much more, for without it there could hardly be a material universe at all.

Evolution Real.

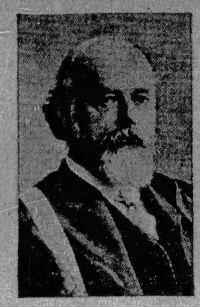

Attacking the school of arbitrary scientists who attempt to account for all things by precise scientific laws, he said:

"But if we have learned from science that evolution is real we have learned a great deal. That evolution's progress is real is a doctrine of profound significance, and our efforts at social betterment are justified because we are a part of the scheme, a part that has become conscious, a part that realizes, dimly at any rate, what it is doing, and what it is aiming at.

"Either we are immortal beings or we are not. We may not know our destiny, but we must have a destiny of some sort. Those who make denials are just as likely to be wrong as those who make assertions; in fact denials are assertions thrown into negative form. Science may not be able to reveal human destiny, but it certainly should not obscure it. Things are as they are, whether we find them out or not, and if we make rash and false statements, posterity will detect us—if posterity ever troubles its head about us. I am one of those who think that the methods of science are not limited in their scope as has been thought—that the psychic region can be studied and brought under law too. Allow us anyhow to make that law. This is not the place to discuss the details, but I cannot help remembering that any utterance from this chair is no ephemeral production, for it remains to be criticised by generations whose knowledge must inevitably be fuller and wiser than our own.

"In justice to myself and my coworkers, I must not only leave on record our conviction that occurrences now regarded as occult can be examined by the methods of science, but go farther, and say that already the facts so examined have convinced me that memory and affection are not limited to that association with matter by which alone they can manifest themselves here and now—that personality persists beyond bodily death. Gradually we may hope to attain some understanding of the nature of a larger, and perhaps ethereal existence, and of conditions regulating intercourse across the chasm. A body of responsible investigators has even now landed on the treacherous, but promising, shore of a new continent."

"Scientific men," was the reply, "have not universally accepted any conclusions, not even telepathy, and inasmuch as the significance of telepathy is very great and wide, opening nothing less than new volume in the history of human knowledge, some slowness in accepting it is natural and wholesome. Few people probably realize the far-reaching scope of the fundamental consequence of this newly discovered human faculty. It tends to unite two states of existence and to demonstrate the transcendency of the spiritual over the material in a way which the ancient human known faculties did not."

Papers by Women

The most remarkable personal fact about the British Association is the large share that women will take in the discussion, the most distinguished being Mme. Curie. For the first time a woman is the president of a section, namely Miss Ethel Sargent, the well-known botanist. Women are contributing papers in most of the sections, and where they are not contributing, they are forming the subject matter of debate. There are as many as twenty contributed papers by women and the range of their papers is as remarkable as the number.

The new sub-section of psychology is dominated by women. They take almost a half share in the educational section. Women also contribute two of the most practical papers in the agricultural section.

FIVE TURKISH OFFICERS KILLED

Quarrel Between Two Generals During the Festival at Adrianople Results in Sanguinary Shooting Affray.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—News of a sanguinary affray, participated in by Turkish officers, has reached the Vienna Neue Freie Presse in a dispatch received from one of its correspondents at Adrianople. The fracas is described as having taken place on the first day of the festival of Bairam Izzet.

War Minister Hajji Adil Pasha and a number of governors and generals were waiting in the palace to receive the festival congratulations. Enver Bey, chief of the general staff, congratulated all except an adherent of General Ahmed Abuk Pasha, who murdered Commander Nazim Pasha.

Those present made endeavors at a reconciliation, but Enver refused, whereupon Abuk made use of abusive language. Enver retaliated in like vein, whereupon Abuk drew his revolver and fired, wounding Enver in the arm. Immediately the fracas became general, and in the melee which followed, five officers were killed and twenty wounded.

The Government has wired instructions to arrest Abuk, whose officers fired on the officers of the Committee of Union and Progress.

JAPAN SENDS MARINES

One Hundred Men Landed at Nanking —Demands Presented to Chinese Government

TOKIO, Sept. 10.—About one hundred Japanese, according to announcement of the foreign office today, have been landed at Nanking. They are intended for protection only. No other forces have been sent ashore.

Another mass meeting was held tonight in protest against the attitude of the ministry. It was addressed by several members of Parliament, after which a big mob marched to the foreign office. Tram cars were stoned on the way.

PEKING, Sept. 10.—The Japanese legation has received instruction from Tokio to present the Government's demands to the Chinese Government in connection with the killing of several Japanese at Nanking. The legation characterizes the demand as exceedingly moderate.

AIRSHIP SWEPT AWAY BY WIND

Two Soldiers Killed While Force Is Attempting to Drag Big Military Dirigible Into Its Shed.

LEIPSIC, Saxony, Sept. 10.—Two soldiers were killed and another Zeppelin dirigible balloon narrowly escaped destruction here today when the great German military airship Z-2 was wrenched from the hands of 150 men and carried aloft by a sudden gust of wind. The dirigible still is in the air.

The airship had just returned from the German Imperial army manoeuvres in Silistra, and an attempt was being made to get the vessel into the balloon hall when a sharp gust of wind suddenly dragged the airship from the hands of the soldiers holding the ropes. The motors were started barely in time to prevent disaster.

Four soldiers who became entangled in the lines were injured.

HELIGOLAND, North Sea, Sept. 10.—Torpedo boat destroyers, with their searchlights flashing over the dark waters, remained all night at the scene of yesterday's airship catastrophe in which only seven of a crew of twenty-one were saved. One body was recovered last night and six more were found this afternoon, including those of Captain Metzing, chief of the naval airship service, and Captain Hanne, commander of the wrecked airship. Doctors are working energetically over three of the men with the hope of resuscitating them.

The bodies of seven others are probably in the cabin of the airship, which lies at the bottom of one of the deepest parts of the North Sea.

WILL BE MODERN IN ALL RESPECTS

Streets, would cost about $600,000 before the eight stories are finished. The company's immediate plans were to erect four stories. To permit this work to proceed, and in order that the first section may be put in shape for business at the earliest possible moment, there had been an appropriation of $450,000

With regard to the time that would elapse between the placing of workmen on the excavation to the date of the opening, Mr. Burbidge could give no definite reply. While emphatically giving the assurance that there would be no unnecessary delay, he pointed out that in a project of the kind it was hard to make such an estimate without danger of falling six months over or under the mark. However, he expressed the hope and the belief that the Hudson's Bay Company would be established in their new quarters by March, 1915. "That would be a splendid year to make our debut in a large way to Victorians," he observed, "when it is remembered that it will mark the opening of the Panama Canal and the general expansion that is sure to come to all the ports of the Pacific Northwest as a result."

That the Victoria structure will be strikingly attractive both in its exterior architecture and its interior arrangements Mr. Burbidge said would be apparent to anyone who had seen the plans. While he was of the opinion that the Calgary store was probably the last word in the latter respect, at any rate as far as present-day knowledge goes, he thought that this city's block would be more ornamental. One point that would tend to give it an added finish was the fact that there will be beautiful fluted Grecian columns every twenty feet between the windows. The interior design was much the same as that of the Calgary store, which, he remarked, was the most up-to-date of the company's sixteen branch establishments. All the fixtures were to be of solid mahogany. There would be every imaginable facility, including a children's nursery and playground, rest room, restaurant, cafeteria, elaborate entrances, and so forth.

Business Outlook Good

Discussing the general business outlook, Mr. Burbidge was unqualifiedly optimistic. Of Victoria's future he had not the slightest doubt. The city was going to be one of the greatest of the West for very obvious reasons. Chief among these was its admirable situation as a port and its charming surroundings and climate. Being thus favored both in regard to the possibility of developing commercially as well as to attractiveness residentially, its growth could then be taken as assured. The company's faith, he pointed out, could not be more conclusively indicated than by the investment which it had been decided to make here.

The present so-called financial stringency he did not believe was as serious as many appeared to think. The recent exceptional activity he described as unnatural and artificial. It was largely the result of real estate speculation, which was not an altogether desirable thing. Those who left their legitimate callings to get into "the game" were being driven back, which was in the best interests of the country. Business, however, in all other respects, was normal, and conditions could be depended on to regain their proper balance.

000 to 40,000 and the number of engines from 1,071 to 1,171. Under the circumstances, he believes that the company will be able to handle the crop without the slightest difficulty.

Mr. Hatton also drew attention to the extraordinary rush of grain at the present time as compared with 1912. From September 1 to date, he said, the C.P.R. had been loading on an average 350 cars a day, whereas, in the corresponding period last year, the average only amounted to 30 cars per day.

SUNDAY LAWS MAY BE APPLIED HERE

Chief Justice Declares That Old English Act Is in Force Throughout British Columbia—Argument Yesterday.

Sunday observance laws are applicable to Vancouver Island. Chief Justice Hunter, after hearing argument yesterday morning, gave judgment to that effect. While admitting that the Provincial Legislature in 1888 exempted the Island from the enforcement of the provisions of the English Act, and conceding that the Lord's Day Act was not designed to interfere with existing Provincial statutes, His Lordship questioned the authority of the local Legislature to take any action, and declared that the Island is on the same footing as other sections of British Columbia with reference to the observance of the Sabbath.

The matter came up in the city's appeal from Magistrate Jay's dismissal of the charge against Mr. Dudley Laity of selling to Detective Macdonald two cigars on a Sunday. Mr. C. A. Harrison, the city prosecutor, appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. Frank Higgins acted on behalf of the defendant.

In stating his case Mr. Harrison showed that Sir James Douglas by proclamation declared the English Sunday law in effect in this Province. With regard to the Lord's Day Act, in it the provision was made that any individual guilty of an offence of its prohibitions, as well as guilty of a breach of the Provincial law, could be proceeded against under the latter. He claimed that even if the Lord's Day Act could not be enforced in British Columbia, the Provincial law still was applicable and prosecutions could be laid under it.

Law in Force Here

Closing his remarks counsel quoted the section of the Charles II. statute which he argued was brought into effect here and still was applicable. It follows:

"For the better observation and keeping holy the Lord's Day, commonly called Sunday: Be it enacted, that all the laws enacted and in force concerning the observation of the Lord's Day, and repairing to the church thereon, be carefully put in execution; and that all and every person and persons whatsoever shall on every Lord's Day apply themselves thereon to the observation of the same, by exercising themselves thereon to the observation of the same, by exercising themselves thereon in the duties of piety and true religion, publicly and privately; and that no tradesman, artificer, workman or other laborer, or other person whatsoever shall do or exercise any worldly labor, business or work of their ordinary callings upon the Lord's Day, or any part therefor (works of necessity and charity only excepted); and that every person being of the age of fourteen years or upwards offending in the premises shall for every such offence forfeit the sum of five shillings; and that no person or persons whatsoever shall publicly cry, show forth, or expose for sale any wares, merchandises, fruit, herbs, goods or chattels whatsoever upon the Lord's Day, or any part thereof, upon pain that every person so offending shall forfeit the same goods so cried or showed forth or exposed to sale."

Mr. Higgins stated that Governor Douglas' proclamation brought into force in British Columbia the English laws as existing on November 19, 1858, in the year 1863. In 1865 the colonies were made one, and in 1877 Vancouver Island as well as the Mainland were included in the scope of its regulations. Until 1888 it applied, but then the Legislature exempted the Island.

Here the court observed that the point counsel had to meet was the power of the Legislature to take such action.

The Parliament of Canada, Mr. Higgins replied, having absolute jurisdiction, said in the Lord's Day Act that it should not supersede any Provincial legislation.

It was the opinion of the chief justice that the act was a complete code regarding a matter which the Privy Council had declared to be within the sole jurisdiction of the Dominion. In 1867 the civil and criminal law of England, existing on November 19, 1858, had been brought into force, and had remained so unless interfered with by competent legislation. In 1888 the Legislature had no authority to interfere with or modify the old act of 1867, and both the Island and Mainland were covered by the Sunday law in force prior to Confederation.

The case in question, in which Mr. Laity is the defendant, was referred back to the police magistrate.

SIR WM. WHYTE ON AGRICULTURE

Anomalous Conditions

"Just take Canada as it is today. We are producing millions and millions of bushels of wheat each year, and each year the country is sending large sums of money abroad for the very articles for the production of which our own conditions are so admirably adapted. In Winnipeg, which is the centre of one of the greatest agricultural areas in the world, we have to send across the line to America in order to obtain cream. Can you imagine anything more ridiculous than that? Out here in British Columbia you send to Australia and New Zealand for fruits and other things that could not be grown to better advantage anywhere in the world than in your own Province. These are simple instances. The country is full of these anomalies from end to end, and I think it is regrettable that it should be allowed to continue. I do not think it will continue long, and indeed I hope it will be discontinued very soon, for it is a condition of things, which, while laughable in a sense, is fraught with very evil results.

"I do not know the exact qualities of the land in this Western Province, but I am sure there are vast areas that could be applied to the production of the things we need here. I should imagine that this was an excellent country for mixed farming, and breeding purposes particularly. There are numerous places in the Prairie Provinces also where a diversification of the agricultural methods would result in general good. The pursuance of the present system simply means that much of the money that comes into the country for our grain product goes out again for other things that we do not produce, although they are essentially cognate to farming. That is a consideration that is rarely thought of, and I would not be surprised to learn that the peculiar conditions of this young country are conducive to it. However, I must say that I regard it as bad.

"It may be argued, of course, that mixed farming would entail more work upon the farmer. Perhaps it would, but I doubt it. One thing it would do would be to spread his efforts over the whole year instead of concentrating them upon a portion of it, as at present. As things are a poor grain year means a bad year for Canada. Now while that may continue to be so under different conditions, I think the bad year might be alleviated by the good returns in forms of agriculture. For instance, cattle, horses, hogs, and other lines might be taken up with great advantage. The market for them is already here, so that there would be no risk of loss. The same may be said of fruits and dairy produce, all of which practically come to the west from abroad.

Life More Enjoyable.

"There is another aspect to this problem that ought to be considered, and that is the handling of traffic. Mixed farming produce can be shipped all the year round, and there need be no congestion at all, whereas at the present time, as you know, we are not altogether free from the risks of blockade. Apart from that point of view, I think that mixed farming is a better form of agriculture for the farmer himself. It broadens him out and gives him interests that grain production alone would never do. When dealing exclusively with inanimate things, it is impossible, at least so I think, to generate the kindly and kindred feeling that the production of animate objects engenders. I am a firm believer in the farmer enjoying not merely the material fruits of his labors but also as much of the higher life as possible, and I think he stands a much better chance of securing it by the mixed farming method, wherein he is in daily contact with his herds of cattle, his hogs, his poultry, and so on, than by straight farming, as it is erroneously called."

Sir William reiterated his statements made in Vancouver regarding the size of the crop this year and the facilities for handling it. He also referred to the possibility of grain coming west in greater bulk when the Panama Canal is completed, and in this connection, after expressing the view that everything depended upon the rate, he pointed out that after navigation had closed on the St. Lawrence and the grain had to go to the far easterly point of St. John and elsewhere for shipment at an increased cost, it was more than likely that the rate via the Pacific coast and the Panama Canal would be less, in which event he predicted that much of the late harvest would come this way. This year, however, the crop is being handled two weeks ahead of last year, and the chances of getting the bulk of it down the St. Lawrence before navigation closes is very bright.

Sir William was delighted with the appearance of Victoria, and spoke in pleasing terms of his appreciation of the dignity and city-like atmosphere of the capital. He proposes taking a motor ride round about today, and will return to Vancouver tonight.

Alderman Wants Report on Nationality of Men Employed on Sooke Lake Work

With a view to ascertaining what proportion of aliens are employed on the Sooke Lake work, what proportion of these men, if any, have been engaged through the civic employment bureau, and what proportion of men who have applied at that bureau for work have been engaged, Alderman Cuthbert has posted notice of a motion which he will move at the next meeting of the City Council as follows:

"That the water commissioner be instructed to furnish the Council with (a) the names of all civic employees engaged on the Sooke Lake waterworks during the month of August; (b) the number of men employed at the works through the agency of the corporation labor bureau, at the Yates Street office; (c) the number of men who have applied for work at the Yates Street office; (d) the number of men who have been employed through any other agency."

Alderman Cuthbert's notice follows complaints by workingmen in the city, who allege that aliens have been employed on the Sooke work, to the exclusion of residents of the city and British subjects, and these complaints further allege that many of the aliens engaged on the work have been secured through a Johnson Street employment agency, to which each man so employed was forced to pay a fee for being given the job.

The civic employment bureau was instituted last Fall, but not brought into operation until early this year, and was placed under the supervision of the city engineer, with an office at the Yates Street yard. The basis on which men required for city work were to be engaged was set forth, preference to be given to married men, ratepayers of the city and British subjects, and then to single men, also residents of the city and British subjects. These requirements, it is claimed, have not been lived up to so far as employment of men for the Sooke Lake work is concerned.

The pay sheets for work done there show that a number of foreigners have been employed on grading work, but this work has been completed, and the foreigners have been, or will be, immediately discharged, as their services are no longer required.

At the grand Canadian trap shooting tournament recently held at Hamilton, Ontario, there was keen competition between the leading shots of the Dominion for supremacy. The amateur championship of Canada was won by W. Barnes, of Hamilton, with a perfect score of 50 targets. Mr. Barnes used Winchester Factory Loaded Shells. The Grand Canadian Handicap was won by H. Smith, of Chatham, with a score of 48x50 from eighteen-yard rise, and the Earl Grey Cup, for the high aggregate of the tournament, was won by R. Day, of London, with a score of 287x300 targets. Both Mr. Smith and Mr. Day used Winchester repeating shotguns. The important victories won with Winchester Loaded Shells and repeating shotguns is another demonstration of their splendid shooting qualities.

A NATIONAL PORT

The statement of Mr. Robert Rogers, Minister of Public Works, that Victoria is to be made a national port is deeply interesting, for it implies very much more than the building of a drydock and piers. On this point more later, and before proceeding to consider some aspects of the case, we may make a passing reference to the first occasion when, so far as we remember, this term was applied to Victoria. Some years have passed, we are not quite sure how many, since the Transportation Commission, presided over by Mr. Reford, of Montreal, visited this city. This Commission was appointed by the Laurier Government, and it compiled a great deal of information, which it presented in the form of a brief synopsis in its report. In that document Victoria was named as one of the points where a national port should be established. The Colonist very frequently referred to this report, and strongly urged our representative in that Ministry to see that it was acted upon. We mention this not in a spirit of criticism, but for the purpose of emphasizing Mr. Rogers' position by showing that it is in line with that taken by the Transportation Commission, which was composed of independent business men.

Since the Transportation Commission made its report, many things have happened. The Panama Canal has been brought to the verge of completion. Provision has been made for the complete opening of Vancouver Island by two railway systems. The Canadian Northern will have its own connection with Vancouver Island, and so will the Great Northern, in association with its line from the Lower Interior Mainland. The Grand Trunk Pacific will have connection with the Island by way of the Pacific Great Eastern. The Canadian Pacific's interests on the Island have enormously increased, and it is now sending its car ferries direct to Esquimalt. If the case for a national port was strong seven or eight years ago, it is far stronger now.

One of the considerations which the Transportation Commission took into account was the probable construction of the all-rail connection by way of Seymour Narrows. This point has also been urged for the consideration of Mr. Rogers, and he has promised a full investigation at an early day, in this respect implementing the promise of Mr. Borden made last Summer. We do not think it would be fair to the Minister of Public Works to suggest that he has been influenced in his decision in regard to Victoria as a national port by anything that has been urged upon his attention in respect to the bridge. That great undertaking, which we believe will be realized in the near future, will, however, establish the wisdom of the policy to which he has committed himself and the Government of which he is a member. Great harbor facilities here, coupled with the development of the Island, and the demand by the Prairie Provinces for our lumber, will bring about the conditions which Sir Sanford Fleming had in mind when he wrote that "the exigencies of the future may render a continuous line of railway to the outer shore of Vancouver Island indispensable at whatever cost."

One feature of the great works to be undertaken here that will mean an incalculable advantage to this city, is the great modern drydock, to be taken in hand without delay. This is a matter that has a value quite distinct from any that may be derived by the city from shipping facilities. A modern drydock will mean the establishment in its immediate vicinity of repair shops of the highest class. This is not to suggest that our existing shops are not of high class, but only that they are naturally not in keeping with what will be one of the greatest docks in the world. Given such shops, and shipbuilding on an enlarged scale will follow as a matter of course, and this will mean a great, steady addition to the payroll of Greater Victoria. We look upon the building of the drydock as of prime importance. The other undertakings, valuable though they are, might have been inaugurated at a later day, and their benefits would only have been delayed; but the drydock will forever establish Victoria's position among the ports of the Pacific Coast. It will be the basis of a great and enduring prosperity.

SUGGESTED LEGISLATION

The proposal that the Provincial Legislature shall enact laws to prevent certain aliens from becoming owners of land in this Province is being taken up by several organizations. Without discussing the merits of such legislation, we may point out that there is a very great deal of doubt as to the power of the Provincial Legislature to deal with such a question. We assume that the proposal had its origin in the fact that the California Legislature had dealt with the subject and that the Federal authorities were powerless to interfere; but the status of the two countries is not the same. California is a sovereign state, exercising such powers as have not been delegated to the United States. British Columbia is a Province exercising only such legislative authority as has been given to it by the British North America Act. It is obvious that there may be many things which the State of California may do, which the Province of British Columbia may not do. For example, California may make its own criminal code; British Columbia cannot.

In the classification of powers in the British North America Act, "property and civil rights within the Province" come under the jurisdiction of the local legislatures, and this would seem, on the face of it, to cover the right of persons within the Province to hold land. But the same Act gives the Parliament of Canada exclusive jurisdiction over "naturalization and aliens," and generally all matter for the peace, order and good government of Canada. Just how far these provisions extend the jurisdiction of Parliament has never received a judicial interpretation as they may apply to the right of aliens to hold land.

We point out these considerations in order to prevent the development of the idea that it is only necessary for the Province to pass a law similar in effect to that enacted in California, to prevent the purchase of land in British Columbia. There is another point that must be kept in mind. The United States Government has no power of disallowance to state Acts, no matter how much they may be antagonistic to the general policy of the nation. The power of disallowance is vested in the Dominion Government, and might be exercised in case Provincial statutes were passed which conflicted either with the general policy of Canada or with that of the British Government.

The organizations that have passed resolutions asking for Provincial legislation of the kind mentioned have disregarded the constitutional question involved. It may be said that the Legislature can pass any law and leave it for the Federal authorities to say if it shall remain on the Statute Books, which is true enough, but failure of the Government to disallow a Provincial Act would not determine the question of its constitutionality, for that is a matter within the powers of the courts only. If the Government shall decide to act upon the representations made, the ultimate decision as to the validity of its legislation will not be determined at Ottawa, but by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council.

A RASCALLY THING

Everyone knows that The Colonist has never joined in the condemnation of real estate movements, so freely indulged in by many people; but there are some things which are so objectionable that they call for the severest animadversion. We have been informed that on a certain inlet of the sea, and in a place where the rocks come down almost perpendicularly, a townsite has been "located" and the lots are being offered for sale. Our informant says that some of the so-called waterfront lots, if they are 120 feet deep, will be 120 feet above sea level at the rear, and the second street from the water will be along the face of a nearly perpendicular cliff. It is a rascally thing to offer such property for sale. This is, perhaps, the most glaring case of dishonest townsite promotion of which we have heard. The lots will not be offered for sale in this part of the country; but they find purchasers elsewhere among people who cannot for a moment believe that anyone would be so dishonest as to sell something that is absolutely worthless.

Our reference to this matter is not intended as a warning against this particular offering, concerning which we shall at present say nothing more, but to point out the necessity of some legislation or Government supervision that will make the perpetration of such frauds, if not impossible, at least attended with such risk that few persons will care to face it. We recognize the difficulty of prescribing general rules, and the chance of error on the part of officials, whereby perfectly legitimate propositions may be defeated, but there ought to be some just medium course, which while not interfering with legitimate enterprise, will prevent the public from being fleeced by conscienceless sharpers. We know that in saying this we will have the very hearty approval of nearly every real estate broker in the Province, the great majority of whom feel keenly the discredit cast upon their business by men, who have no other thought than how to get a dollar by hook or by crook.

The possibility of mistakes being made by officials has been above mentioned. What we have in mind on this point is that through a preponderance of caution, an official might not sanction a subdivision of a new townsite. We have in mind a certain townsite which was placed upon the market fully fifteen years ago. The chances are that any official of the Crown Land Department would at that time have declined to give official sanction to the subdivision. Though the town yet remains to be built, the lots are worth several times what they were originally sold for, because the people who placed them on the market saw a little ahead of their time. We know of many places where there is not now even so much as a single house, but where, if a man were willing to discount the future a little, he might by investing a small sum stand a very excellent, we may say an almost certain, chance, of a substantial profit. For cases like this there might be some difficulty in providing by statutory provisions to be enforced by some official. We see no reason why people should not be permitted to act upon their own judgment, provided they are told the actual facts. What we wish to see stopped is the obtaining of money under false pretences through the medium of townsite advertisements. It may be that an amendment to the Criminal Code is necessary to meet the case.

FINANCIAL CONDITIONS

The interview with Sir William Whyte, which our Vancouver correspondent sent us yesterday, was one of very great interest. Sir William Whyte has had great experience in financial matters and in the progress of the West. When we say that he is one of the best possible authorities on the subjects which he discussed, we are sure that the statement will be endorsed by all competent judges. The tone of his remarks may be described as one of intelligent optimism. He looks forward to a renewed influx of money into Canada. Sir Edmund Osler's brief observations were to the same effect. We are fortunate in being able to present in confirmation of the views expressed by these eminent Canadian financiers some remarks by Sir William Mackenzie to The Toronto Globe on his return from England, where he has just placed $13,000,000 of Canadian Northern securities on very satisfactory terms. "As to conditions in London," said Sir William, "there was a considerable change in the world-wide view of things while I was there. I was advised that the general situation rendered it unwise to test the market with any large loan, especially during the holiday season, but the response to both issues of Canadian Northern securities was very satisfactory. The proceeds will be used for Western construction. The best opinion among London financiers now inclines to the view that the financial crisis which was feared might arise this Autumn will be avoided, and that in fact there may ensue a period of comparatively easy monetary conditions." He added that London's appreciation of Canadian offerings, whether government, municipal or corporation, is as keen as ever. He said also that "the tendency will be to increase the investment of private funds here."

Sir William Whyte spoke of the great promise of the grain crop, and Sir William Mackenzie expressed to his Toronto interviewer the liveliest satisfaction at the news he had received from the Prairies.

In view of the great public works in hand and to be undertaken here and the great amount of private expenditure in sight, it is impossible not to feel assured that the people of Victoria and vicinity may look forward to a period of renewed activity.

THE PANAMA CANAL

It is getting on for a year since President Wilson was elected to office in the United States, but as yet nothing official has been heard of his attitude on the question of the Panama Canal tolls. No definite agreement has been arrived at, whereby the vexed question will be submitted to arbitration. There is apparently no indication of any desire on the part of the administration in the United States to recede from the position it took up under Mr. Taft. By the Panama Canal Act, which we now understand is part of the United States statutes, a new interpretation has been placed on the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty, which clearly specifies that all nations using the Panama Canal shall be treated alike in the matter of tolls. The United States has taken the attitude that the exemption of her coastwise traffic is not a violation of the treaty. In extenuating this interpretation of the treaty, it is pointed out that the Convention excludes any question affecting "the vital interests, the independence or the honor of the two contracting States." If this view of treaties were carried to the full extent of isolated national interpretation, there is a very strong case for no treaty ever framed being worth the paper it is written on. In any instance, it only seems fair that a court of arbitration should decide upon the interpretation of such a clause. It follows that if the independence of the Republic is dependent upon the right to remit tolls on American ships, that the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty immediately becomes null and void. The words of this treaty specifically state that the canal shall be free and open to "all" nations observing the rules "on terms of entire equality," and "that there shall be no discrimination against any such nation or its citizens or subjects, in respect of the conditions or charges of traffic or otherwise." It takes a wild stretch of the imagination to construe into these words that certain classes of American shipping may be exempted by American law from the dues to which non-American shipping is to remain subject. Such an attitude is clearly a discrimination against non-American shipping.

By the terms of the Clayton-Bulwer Treaty, Great Britain and the United States severally bound themselves not to acquire exclusive control over the projected canal. They agreed to see that it should be open to the subjects and citizens of both countries on equal terms. The Hay-Pauncefote Treaty, brought about at the request of the United States, released that country from the obligation not to acquire exclusive control, but only on the conditions that the United States should remain bound by the obligation to leave the canal open to all nations upon equal terms. In interpreting this clause, Mr. Taft took all nations to mean all nations except the United States, a most extraordinary assumption, considering that the United States was one of the two parties to the treaty. Great Britain maintains that the treaty clause means all nations, including the United States. If it does not, then on the same plane of argument as Mr. Taft adopted, it is fair to assume that the clause relating to all nations, means all nations, with the exception of Great Britain and the United States, an interpretation which Great Britain would be the last to place upon a treaty of that character drawn up in such specific terms.

It would be timely if President Wilson would express, in a definite way, the attitude of his administration upon a question fraught with so much international perplexity. In the eyes of the world he has only two self-respecting courses open. One is to rescind the Panama Canal Act, and the other is to submit to an international tribunal the interpretation that the United States has placed upon the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty. The latter course is the one suggested by Great Britain. It is no argument to advance, as Mr. Taft apparently did, that no impartial tribunal could be found to which the United States could submit her claims. If that contention were right, then the principle of arbitration is conceived along entirely wrong lines, and the prospects of international peace are further away than they ever were. Great Britain has announced her determination to abide loyally by the results of arbitration on the interpretation of the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty. If the United States is not prepared to do the same thing, but, on the other hand, is determined that national law shall over-ride international obligations, then she will go a long way towards forfeiting her right to terms of equality among the treaty-making nations.

Advance, Victoria.

The odorless onion has arrived. The tearless variety is now in order.

In the matter of Sunday observance if the decision of Chief Justice Hunter stands, it seems to be a case of out of the frying-pan into the fire.

Congratulations to the Minister of Justice. He may have rubbed the edge of some legal corners, but he freed the country of what seemed about to become an intolerable nuisance.

The opposition of German manufacturers to exhibiting at the Panama Exposition is very strong. The feeling in Germany is very much stronger than that in Great Britain.

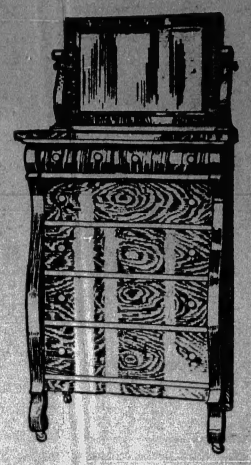

The highest court in Bavaria has declared that "turkey-trotting" is disorderly conduct. It would be so deemed in Canada if the practice of it were confined to people of no social standing.

We suggest to the B. C. Electric Railway Company that, in view of the early beginning of work at the new drydock, the tram line to Esquimalt should be double-tracked throughout. At rush hours now the congestion is great. When hundreds of men are employed on the dock, it will be much greater.

The Colonist, like its evening contemporary, has been requested to say something in regard to the "public" market. But Victoria has no public market. There is a place called by that name, and a very useful place it seems to be; but it is not a public market, and therefore as long as persons vending goods there comply with the law, what they may or may not do is not a matter for newspaper comment.

Very hearty approval was expressed throughout the city because of the information received by The Colonist from the Minister of Public Works. The very prompt action of the minister was especially commended, for we have been accustomed generally in the past to have to wait a long time to secure what we needed, even if it was understood that we were to have it.

Great Strength and Convenience Combined With Beauty in the Colonial Style

IN richly-figured Circassian walnut we have many different designs in the style illutsrated here.

In its massiveness, dignity and distinction, the Colonial style clearly illustrates the prevailing spirit of the period it represents. Utility and convenience was the first consideration, and the lack of power machinery was the primary cause of the ingenious use of plain lines and simple sweeps.

The beautiful figure and rich color of Circassian walnut adds to the attractiveness of this style.

We would like to quote prices, but as there are so many sizes and styles to choose from, it is impossible to give full details. Call and see the display; it will prove a pleasant trip for you.

Another Colonial Style in Richly-Figured Mahogany

The Dresser has top measuring 23 x 48 inches, and a beveled glass 32 x 44 inches. Price is only $100.00

The Chioffnier measures 20 x 34 inches over the top, and the glass is 18 x 30 inches. Price $90.00

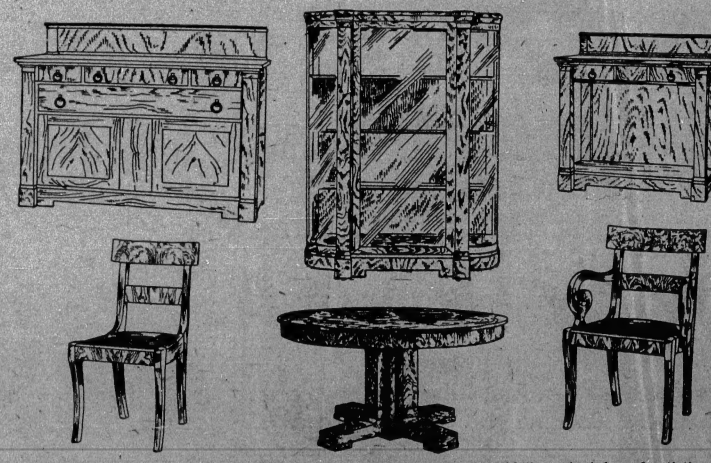

The Dressing Table is 20 x 36 inches over the top, and the glass is 22 x 32 inches. Price only $50.00

Somnoe has one drawer, and the cupboard has an arched-shaped door. The top measures 17 x 20 inches, and the price is only $27.50

Beds That Will Harmonize. Several are here to choose from. One in the Colonial roll style, marked at $50.00, should make a pleasing finish to the suite.

The Colonial Style Introduced Into the Modern Dining-Room

Simplicity of design, graceful curves and a masterful handling of the principles of artistic proportion are features you'll instantly notice in this design.

Being built of handsomely-figured Circassian walnut and finished in a rich dull style, an unusually strong and attractive effect has been gained.

Only by a close examination of this suite can you fully appreciate the skilful workmanship, quality of the mateirals and the artistic taste that are combined in this set of twelve pieces.

CHURCH MOVEMENT STARTED BY LAITY

Meeting of Members of Church of England Who Proclaim Themselves Desirous of Securing Catholic Privileges.

A meeting of a number of the laity of the Church of England, who, to quote their own words, "are desirous of co-operating towards securing in this city a centre where full Catholic privileges may be obtained," was held on Tuesday evening in the Theosophical Hall, with Mr. B. G. Walker as chairman.

After prayer and the recital of the Apostles Creed, the chairman made an opening address, in which he stated that it was his belief that if they persevered in their efforts they would attain their objects, providing their numbers were sufficient. For a long time past there had been a desire for a Catholic centre in the city, one reason being because of its geographical position. Victoria formed one of the waiting places on the Empire route, and there seemed to be a general tendency on the part of their brethren from England to make their homes in this city. There was no need to dwell on that, but still it was essentially the home of English people, many of whom deeply regretted the fact that there was no place where they could have a weekly celebration of the Mass, although at present, he reminded his hearers, they had no desire to say anything against any of the local clergy. Every facility was provided for the Protestant branch of the church to worship as its members pleased, but when they asked that the Catholic character of the Church of England be allowed to stand to the front they met with much opposition. They thought that they were entitled to this, and the time was now ripe for them to join hands to obtain these privileges. But they must take action in a broad spirit. They had no stones to throw. They wanted simply to ask that they might enjoy their rights as Catholics. To throw stones or make aspersions was not their spirit. They wished to come together in the spirit of loving forbearance to show that they were following in the footsteps of their Divine Master. Let it not be thought for one moment that their ambition was to obtain something pretty, such as costly vestment or lighted candles. They wanted to obtain the spirit that lay beneath those outward forms, the depths of which they could not fathom.

Agreement With Canons

They were taking this step, went on the chairman, in agreement with the canons of the Catholic Church, and they intended to work in obedience under their bishop. A committee had been at work with a view to making preliminary arrangements, and they were now in a position to place before them a concrete proposition. Vast advances had been made, and it only remained to see whether they had sufficient numbers to support a priest and to see to the upkeeping of the services and the expenses thereof. It was not a question of building a church or buying land. They had thought a great deal as to whether it was advisable to affiliate with the English Church Union, and they hoped soon to be able to take such a step. This could not be done, however, unless they were associated with a parish and under a rector who was himself a member of the union.

Outlining some of the plans of the new organization, the chairman said they wanted what was defined as definite Catholic teaching. It was time a standard was set up which would permit of no equivocation, and to uphold the three great creeds and bring young and old into the Catholic fold.

At the close of his address Mr. Walker was formally elected chairman for the evening, and Mr. Hampton secretary.

Mr. F. F. Fatt asked whether the bishop of the diocese had knowledge of this meeting, and would they get sufficient approbation from him to go forward. He thought it would be a great pity to start such a movement and then have it fizzle out.

In reply, the chairman stated that the nature of their negotiations so far did not necessitate an appeal to the bishop, for they did not wish to place His Lordship in an awkward position. There need be no apprehension in their minds, for he believed that the movement would be brought about ultimately with the concurrence of the bishop. They wanted to know, however, that they had sufficient numbers to be able to go and say, "Give us bread," and they could not be refused.

Resolutions

The following resolutions were passed:

That, in the opinion of this meeting of laity, it is expedient and desirable that steps should be taken towards securing our just right, as loyal members of the church, to full Catholic worship and teaching in conformity with the historic and apostolic character of the English branch of the One Catholic and Apostolic Church.

That, in order to prevent any ambiguity or misunderstanding, we hereby declare that the objects we desire are (inter alia) (1) Dissa Cantata, with incense, every Sunday as the principal service of the day; (2) that persons intending to make their Communion at such service shall only do so after due notice to the priest, as required by the Prayer Book; (3) the use of wafer bread and the mixed chalice; (4) six lighted candles on the re-table and Gospel and Epistle lights, and the use of full Eucharistic vestments at such principal service; (5) the provision of a priest who teaches and practices confession; (6) Eastward position and other of the Six Points not already covered by the terms of this resolution.

That, with a view to facilitate the attainment of the objects set forth in the second resolution, this meeting form itself into a society (with power to add to our number), to be known as "The Catholic Society of Church of England Laity."

This was amended to the Anglo-Catholic Society.

That the officers of this society be appointed at the next meeting, and that they comprise president, vice-president, secretary-treasurer, who shall, with three other members to be elected, form the executive committee.

That, with the intention to include all lay members of the Church of England who may wish to co-operate with us by subscribing to the society's roll, this meeting stand adjourned till Tuesday next, September 16, at 8 p.m., at this hall, and that every member be requested to make known to fellow Catholics the objects of this society, so that a full representation of the Catholics of the city may be realized by next meeting, the time being ripe for immediate, prompt action.

At the close, the chairman urged all present to attend the next meeting, and in the meanwhile to try to obtain the total strength of Catholics in this city, of whom there were many. The next meeting would be the decisive one. The way was open now as it was never likely to be again for years to come.

The preliminary committee consists of Messrs. B. G. Walker, chairman; E. R. Parke, G. Grogan, E. C. F. Oxley and R. Yates.

PROGRESS AT SOOKE LAKE

Nearly Three Hundred Men Are Now Engaged—Parson's Bridge Connection Undecided

At present a force of two hundred and ninety men is engaged on the Sooke Lake work, and while clearing work around the lake is being pushed ahead at a good rate, and will, it is expected, be completed in about two weeks' time, the other work is also making good progress. Gangs are employed on excavating for the dam at the south end of the lake, hauling cement and carrying through a large amount of preliminary work. With good weather conditions for the next two months, the dam work will be well advanced.

At Monday night's meeting of the Council, Alderman Cuthbert urged his proposal of the immediate extension of the Sooke pipe line along the Gorge Road, so that a permanent connection with the system of the Esquimalt Water Works Company might be made at Parson's Bridge. The city, the alderman stated, now has money on hand to permit of this connection, estimated to cost $250,000, being made. He pointed to the fact that next year the supply being received from the company will hardly be sufficient for the city's needs, and the present temporary connection is too precarious to depend upon. At any time it might be put out of business through accident or design. Alderman Cuthbert believed that with the necessary funds on hand, no delay in this work should be permitted.

Alderman Gleason referred to a recent report by Mr. Rust, in which the latter points out that to use the $250,000 for the Parson's Bridge connection, would necessitate ceasing work on other portions of the scheme, work which is imperative, and which should be prosecuted without delay. There are plant and materials at Sooke Lake, which, unless utilized at once, will be lost because of work being unfinished before the advent of the rainy season. Further, when the August accounts are in there will not be $250,000 remaining available.

Alderman Cuthbert's suggestion relative to the Parson's Bridge connection was allowed to stand over until next meeting, when further particulars will be supplied by Mr. Rust.

COUNCIL OF WOMEN

Business Transacted by Local Body—Question of Care of Feeble-Minded Persons Comes Up

The Local Council of Women met on Monday afternoon for the first time this season, with the president, Miss Crease, in the chair. During the afternoon a quantity of interesting business was discussed.

A resolution with respect to keeping the anti-gambling law was passed, and a communication was received from the Vancouver Local Council in connection with the segregation and care and training of the feeble minded. The sister organization is taking this matter up very actively, and wishes the Victoria Council to co-operate in making some table of the number of feeble-minded persons throughout the Province, and the nature of their diseases. It was pointed out that there was a considerable difference between an idiot, the imbicile and a third class of mentally deficient person which was particularly amenable to training, under proper conditions becoming self-supporting.

The ladies also discussed the question of the public market, highly approving of the work already done in that connection, with the hope that it might be still further developed. Mrs. Mitchell, convener of the committee on Equal Morals, tendered her resignation. Two of the Women's Institutes, Duncan and Lake Hill, affiliated with the Council, and Mrs. Hutchinson accepted the convenership of the standing committee on Women and Agriculture.

The ladies also passed a vote of thanks to The Colonist newspaper for its attitude in respect to the race track gambling evil.

LOCKED IN ICEFIELD

Explorer Stefansson's Power Boat Alaska Held Fast Off Alaskan Coast

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 10.—The United States revenue cutter Bear was imprisoned eight days last month in the Arctic ice pack near Point Barrow during her annual voyage to Alaska's most northerly cape. All hands made ready to take to the ice. The cutter sprang a leak, being pierced in her forward hull below the water line.

This news was brought yesterday by J. V. Gary, who conducts the Government school at Icy Cape, Alaska.

The Karluk, Explorer Stefansson's flagship, passed Point Barrow eastbound on August 8. The power boat Alaska, Stefansson's second ship, was locked in the ice near Seahorse Islands when the Bear sailed from Barrow. The Bear put into St. Lawrence Bay for repairs.

GROWING OF FRUIT ON THE MAINLAND

Provincial Horticulturist Reports Fair Crop This Year—Success of Government Pre-Cooling Station.

Mr. R. M. Winslow, Provincial horticulturist, returned to the city yesterday after an extended tour of inspection of the fruit-growing districts on the Mainland, which included the country from Kamloops to the boundary and from the Okanagan to Cranbrook.

He had left Nelson two days before the meeting which Mr. W. E. Scott addressed on the matter of a central selling agency ten days ago, and at which a large committee of Kootenay and Boundary growers were appointed to go back to their several districts, make known the conditions under which financial aid might be expected from the Government and learn the wishes of their neighbors. Speaking roughly, the Okanagan output is 65 per cent of the total production of the Province in fruit, and if the Creston, Grand Forks and Nelson districts can be organized, that would mean the handling of another 10 per cent of the fruit of the Province, making in all between 70 and 80 per cent, though, of course, this latter district could not be organized to be in working shape before next year. The Okanagan co-operative movement has already resulted in raising the general standard of this year's pack, and the prices obtained by growers should prove satisfactory to them. The crop of apples and pears is of fair quality and up to the estimates already made.

Pre-Cooling Station

The first experimental pre-cooling station in the Province was put in this year by the Government at Summerland, and is doing all that was expected of it. A carload of peaches sold from it in the Edmonton market for ten cents a box higher than similar fruit that had not been pre-cooled, which meant an increase in return to the grower of about one-third of a cent per pound. This pre-cooling station has a capacity of one carload, and growers are warned that to obtain the best results from its use it is necessary that fruit should reach it within twenty-four hours of being picked.

Mr. Winslow expressed himself as having, on this tour, been immensely impressed by the difference to be observed in many districts on the Mainland between fruit trees on soil which has been maintained by fertilizers or manure and those on soil deficient in plant food, and gave it as his opinion that this fact points unmistakably to the ultimate success of those orchards on which cover crops are the rule, or where manure is steadily and intelligently applied. In the demonstration orchards which the department of horticulture is supervising in the Kootenays a series of experiments in cover crops are being conducted with clover, vetches, rye, rape and cowhorn turnips, which are all ploughed in the first thing in the Spring. One species of cover crop will be persevered with for some years on one orchard, and then the results compared with that of another crop on another orchard, in order to get at the cumulative effect of this green manure. Throughout West Kootenay there appears to be an increasing realization that most of the soils there will have to be strengthened in some way, either by the cover crop system or otherwise and that to obtain manure, mixed farming must be more generally practiced.

NEWS OF THE CITY

A Toronto Visitor—Mr. John W. Tibbs, manager of The Toronto Star syndicate services, spent yesterday in the city on a business trip. He says there is every indication of a speedy revival of all lines of business, and is sure that the great crops in the Northwest will go far towards relieving the financial situation.

Enjoyed Visit—Expressing himself as having enjoyed his visit to Victoria immensely, Sir Gilbert Parker, M.P., returned to the Mainland yesterday. The famous novelist was loud in praise of the beauties of Victoria, and predicted a great future for this port. Tomorrow Sir Gilbert will address the University Club of Vancouver, at a luncheon in his honor.

License Transfers—A short session of the Board of License Commissioners was held yesterday afternoon, when application for the transfer of the license of the Rock Bay Hotel, from Mr. B. A. Holden to Mr. James Rae, and the extension of the temporary transfer of the permit of the Ritz Hotel, from Mrs. Constance Baker to Mr. Channing J. Lovejoy, were passed upon and approved.

On Extended Trip—Mr. A. T. Goward, local manager of the B.C. Electric Company, accompanied by Mrs. Goward, left yesterday morning on an extended visit to the Old Country. They will be absent about three months, and while in Great Britain will visit Mr. Goward's old home at Tenby, Wales. During the absence of Mr. Goward, Mr. G. M. Tripp, engineering superintendent of the company here, will be in charge of the system.

Building Activity—Building permits were issued yesterday by the building inspector to Mr. J. F. McKinnon for a garage to be erected on St. Andrew's Street to cost $150; to Mrs. George Bohlander, dwelling on Cornwall Street, $2,000; to Mr. J. W. Moore, alterations to premises on Johnson Street, $500; to Mr. G. A. Gardiner, dwelling on Parkington Street, $4,000; to Mr. A. J. Abbott, dwelling on Forbes Street, $4,000.

Suit for Rent—Warwick vs. Adlam was heard in the County Court yesterday, Mr. W. H. Warwick suing Mrs. Adlam on the ground that she left her apartments, which were rented from the plaintiff, without the required notice. The defendant denied the accusation, and gave reasons for changing her residence. Judgment for defendant (non-suited) with costs. Mr. R. DeB. Hovell for plaintiff, and Mr. J. H. Austin for defendant.

An Opium Case—Sergeant Harper on Tuesday afternoon found a Chinaman named Lee Duck passing what are believed to have been opium pills to his countrymen in the station cells. He was charged yesterday morning with being in possession of the drug for other than medicinal or scientific purposes. After entering a plea of not guilty, his counsel, Mr. Thomas Miller, secured a remand to today.

Father Seeks Son—Information relative to the whereabouts of Joseph Steele is being eagerly sought by his father, George R. Steele, of Garden Plain, Alta. Authorities at the Coast cities have received a notice stating that George R. Steele was willing to pay $5 reward for any information about his son, dead or alive. When last heard of the missing man was in Rocky Mountain House, Alta. This was in March and Steele's father has had no word from him since then.

Dominion Building—At its next meeting the Board of Trade will deal with the following suggested resolution: "That the Dominion Government be memorialized to take such steps as may be necessary to establish in the City of London, England, a Dominion building on similar lines to that about to be erected by the Commonwealth of Australia, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to all boards of trade in the Dominion asking their endorsement."

Regarding Firearms—Some misunderstanding appears to have arisen in some quarters regarding the legislation passed last session, affecting the use of firearms. The misunderstanding arises out of the common use of the word "gun," as referring to any firearm. The enactment actually provides that before a "pistol or revolver" may be purchased, a permit must be obtained from the police, or someone in authority. There is nothing said about the purchase of shotguns or rifles, or the carrying of these.

Brotherhood Meetings—At a meeting in the Metropolitan Church Tuesday night, a chosen committee met to discuss ways and means of launching a "brotherhood movement." General officers were nominated for the purpose of organizing the work on a strong and progressive basis. The meeting of the Brotherhood on Sunday next at 2:30 o'clock in the church will be asked to confirm these various nominations, etc. These meetings from now on will be open to men of any or no denomination. The officers generally will make every man welcome, and the meetings will be bright, helpful and instructive. Meetings open at 2:30.

Insect Pests—J. M. Swaine, entomologist of the Canadian Conservation Commission, has been engaged for some time in making a study of economic insect pests in British Columbia. He has been working in conjunction with the forest branch of this Province. It is understood that he has discovered up to date several new species of dangerous forest insects, one of which preys to a large extent on the larch wood of the Province. In such a thickly timbered country as British Columbia it is doubtful if measures for the destruction of these insects, or the mitigation of the harm they achieve could be accomplished without unwarranted expense.

Provincial Exhibits—The Provincial exhibits will be on view this week at the London and Ottawa fairs, which run simultaneously from September 5 to 13. These events will close the travels of the exhibits in Canada, and Mr. W. P. Brandrith and his assistant, with the aid of the Department of Agriculture, will have some seven weeks in which to collect material and produce for the United States land show at Chicago in November. At this show British Columbia joins with the Canadian Pacific Railway to stage the greatest exhibit illustrative of the immense natural resources of the Province and products of its soil which perhaps has ever been sent from one Province.

Chief Cooper Resigns—After holding the office for the past twenty years, Michael Cooper, chief of the Songhees Indians, has resigned on account of indifferent health. It is not known who will succeed him, although it is likely that the new chief will be William Robert, who is the present chief's choice, and will be recommended by him to the tribe. Several changes have taken place in the tribe during Chief Michael's term of office. The most noteworthy of these was the exodus two years ago from the old reserve to the new, an exodus which has proved a happy and profitable one as far as the Indians are concerned. Chief Michael received his appointment from Judge Vowell, who appointed him for life. He reported his coming resignation of the office last week to Indian Agent Inspector Ditchburn.

Delayed Mails—The assistant postmaster, Mr. T. A. Cairns, announced yesterday afternoon that another big consignment of mail matter was expected last night. With that in, they hoped that the accummulations caused by the recent disorganization of the transcontinental service would be quickly disposed of, and that then they would be able to return to routine business. The officials have been hard at work on the two batches that came in on Tuesday, and have broken the back of the heavy task, although a pile of sacks still remained untouched late yesterday afternoon. Yesterday morning's English mail has been for the most part distributed, and bags made up for points to the North on the Island. Toronto mail dated September 5 has now been dealt with, and the next two days should see the arrears overtaken if last night's consignment proves to be the last of the delayed matter.

Poor Painting Alleged—Mr. "Eddie" Gleason, groundkeeper for the Victoria Baseball Club, is the defendant before the County Court in a suit brought by the Manser Sign Painting Company for payment for work done in painting some advertising signs on the fence surrounding the club's grounds. The case for the plaintiff was completed yesterday, evidence being given by Mr. Manser as to the contract between him and Mr. Gleason, and as to the character of the work done, and also by Messrs. J. Carl Pendray, George Myers, and George Mellor, all of whom declared that the signs were well up to standard. Mr. Gleason was on the stand when adjournment was taken. He alleged that four of the signs faded so badly during the season that complaints were received from advertisers. Some, he says, he had to have repainted, and on others, in order to satisfy his patrons, he had to make restitution at considerable expense. Mr. Vaughan for the plaintiff and Mr. J. A. Aikman for the defendant.

Releases Lumber—The Provincial Government has performed an act of grace in allowing the six carloads of lumber and the five swifters of logs seized from the Excelsior Lumber Company to be released. It was decided under the circumstances not to enforce the letter of the regulations and order the confiscation of the seized property. The lumber and timber were seized by Forest Department officials recently, when the carloads of sawn shingle bolts were found to be in transit to the American border, a violation of the act being alleged. The matter was fully argued out before Mr. Justice Clement last week, and his lordship decided that the bolts must be sawn into shingles in the Province to comply with the act. The company had claimed the right to export the shingle bolts under the head of "sawn lumber." Having established its contention in the courts, the forest department decided not to confiscate the Excelsior Lumber Company's property, and released it on a heavy bond that no further attempt would be made to export sawn shingle bolts as "sawn lumber."

B. C. Fish Exhibit—When the Department of Marine and Fisheries decided to show, in the Government Building at Toronto, the different food fishes of Canada, it was done more or less as an experiment. The results have more than justified the outlay involved. British Columbia displayed, in a refrigerator, the different salmon—smoked salmon, kippered salmon, boneless salmon and flaked salmon; mild-cured halibut, smoked halibut and kippered halibut; also kippers, bloaters, Digby chicks and boneless herring. In reference to the kippered salmon, the daily hour when the public was offered this to sample, saw the British Columbia stall nearly mobbed, so anxious were the people to obtain a sample. This points to kippered salmon becoming a big seller East in the future. Another article that caused considerable comment was the large size of the crabs sent by the Canadian Fishing Company, Ltd. Altogether, Mr. Hayward, who was in charge of the exhibit, feels that the showing by British Columbia was a success beyond what he anticipated, all preparations having to be made in a hurry.

The Sapphire's Attribute

From out the dim past has come the saying that in the wearing of the Sapphire, the virtue of wisdom contained in the jewel shall be imparted to the wearer.

Every man—and every woman, too, craves wisdom, and if those born in September could be SURE that by wearing the Sapphire, they would obtain it, none so poor but they would find a way to get at least one.

But wouldn't they get wisdom? An unanswerable question, because there's no way of proving or disproving it.

We can at least say that you will show wisdom by coming to our store and seeing our wonderful assortment of these beautiful gems, mounted in Necklet, Bracelet, Stick Pin, Brooch, Blouse Set, some with their charm enhanced by diamonds; others set with pearls.

If you were born in September, don't be without the Sapphire. Wear it for a while, and if you find no increase of wisdom, you will still find increasing satisfaction in the possession of this "thing of beauty."

C. P. R. OFFICIALS TALK ON CONDITIONS

Great Galaxy of Transportation Men in the City—Sir Edmund Osler and Others Extremely Optimistic.

It is not often in the course of a year that so important a galaxy of Canadians is to be found in the capital as was to be found yesterday upon the arrival of the party of C. P. R. directors and officials from the East and Middle West. Sir William Whyte and Sir Edmund Osler headed the list in the absence of Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, who had intended to come but turned back before reaching the Coast, on account of the illness of Lady Shaughnessy.

Other members of the party who came right through were Mr. R. B. Angus, president of the Bank of Montreal, Mr. S. H. Holt, president of the Royal Bank and the Royal Trust Company; Mr. W. D. Matthews, director of the C. P. R.; Mr. George J. Bury, vice-president of the C. P. R.; Mr. Maitland Kersey, general manager of the C. P. R. steamships, who came here from London recently to meet the Empress of Asia; Mr. Hayter Reed, chief of hotel systems; Mr. R. Marpole, western executive, and Mr. H. W. Brodie, general passenger agent.

The party expect to leave again this evening for the Mainland; that is those members who came from the East as distinct from those whose offices are on the Coast, although last evening it was stated that they might remain overnight and go out tomorrow. Upon reaching Vancouver they propose to entrain for Edmonton and other points on the main line, from which they will make brief expeditions along the branch lines. In this way they hope to make a comprehensive itinerary of the entire system, particularly in the Western districts.

During yesterday the members of the party visited the local offices of the C. P. R., and a few of them went out to the Songhees Reserve and were shown over the work that is being done there pending the development of the terminal facilities. Others enjoyed motor rides through the city and round the surrounding country, the weather conditions being ideal for such a purpose. Today it is possible that a trip will be made up the line for some distance, but this has not been decided upon.

Money Question

Sir Edmund Osler, who, in addition to being a prominent director of the C. P. R., is president of the Dominion Bank, spoke briefly to The Colonist on the subject of money. "We have been spending too much in the East," he said, "and you have been following our example in the West. That fact, taken in conjunction with the recent European situation, or rather the situation in the Balkans, caused a general tightening up of the purse strings. Things are easier now than they have been, and in a very short time I expect to see them back at normal, or thereabouts. It is not that there is no money. There is plenty of money, but the price is rather high. That is all."

In reply to a question as to whether the money stringency affected the railway company, Sir Edmund frankly replied that while it did not materially affect their development policies, it did have a marked effect upon their revenues. "For instance, the lack of money means that people are not traveling to the same extent. That affects us both by land and water. On this Coast even, while you are, perhaps, better off, under the circumstances, than most places, you must have observed that the tourist traffic is not up to the usual. I don't mean to say there is much in that, because there is not. We are merely marking time just now, and in a little while things will move again with their wonted rapidity. Throughout the country conditions never were better, and I believe that next year we shall resume the old gait and set new standards all over again."

Outlook Favorable.

Mr. H. S. Holt, president of the Royal Bank, said to The Colonist:

"I have never had greater faith in the future of Canada than at the present moment. Business conditions are sound from Coast to Coast. The only trouble is that we have been going too fast, and the present steadying down will serve a very good purpose. The so-called set-back—if I can designate the financial situation for the past six months by that word,—will enable the people to get their wind and shape up matters for another period of increased confidence and general prosperity."

This optimistic view was also expressed by Mr. R. B. Angus, president of the Bank of Montreal.

Mr. Bury, as a working official of the company, expressed his gratification at the harvesting conditions, and predicted that the grain would be cleared easier and with greater expedition than ever before, despite the increase in the product which he estimated at something like 12,000,000 bushels over that of last year.

REOPEN NANAIMO MINE

Number of Men Are at Work in No. 1 Shaft—Operations at Extension

NANAIMO, Sept. 10.—Twenty-four men, non-union, went to work in the No. 1 Pit of the Western Fuel Company today. They are getting the mine in shape for the production of coal. No attempt has been made to molest them.

It was also reported that fifty men, also non-union workers, started work at Extension today on the property of the Canadian Collieries. The men were put to work upon fixing up the tunnel, which had been damaged in the recent riots. In several days, however, it is believed that the mine will be producing again.

At South Wellington, too, it is stated that the mineowners are getting ready to throw their pit open for work.

NEWS OF THE CITY

Week's Bank Clearings—Bank clearings for the week ended Tuesday totaled $3,297,937, compared with $3,954,581 for the preceding week.

Minister's Tour—Hon. Price Ellison, Minister of Finance and Agriculture, has started out on an extensive tour of the Province. He left the Capital yesterday for Vancouver, whence he will head into the Interior, and, after making a round-up of the various centres, he will proceed to Prince Rupert and Northern points.

New Government Agent—The Nelson district is to have a new Government Agent in the person of Mr. John Cartmell, formerly Agent at Telegraph Creek. The position was formerly held by Mr. Teetzel, who has, however, gone into the Dominion Government service. Mr. Cartmell has done good work at Telegraph Creek, and his appointment to the Nelson post is bound to prove popular.

Plaintiff Succeeds—In King Manufacturing Company vs. Mr. J. Burt Morgan, before Judge Lampman in the County Court yesterday, the plaintiffs sought payment for alterations and repairs to Mr. Morgan's offices. The defendant counter-claimed for damages for the inconvenience resulting from plaintiffs' failure to comply with the understanding as to how the work should be done. Judgment was allowed plaintiffs to the extent of $215 and costs, while defendant on his counter-claim was granted $25 and costs. Mr. R. McKane for the plaintiff and Mr. E. G. P. Baker for the defendant.

Hurled From Street Car—Thrown from the street car as it was rounding the sharp turn in the Esquimalt Road line, near the city limits, Edward O'Neill was badly cut about the head and rendered unconscious at 7:30 o'clock last night. When the conductor of the car, assisted by passengers, picked O'Neill up it was thought at first that he was dead. In response to a telephone call the police motor patrol was rushed to the spot, and O'Neill brought in at a record clip to Dr. Bapty's office, where it was found that no bones had been broken. O'Neill, in transit, had come to his senses. From the doctor's office he was taken to the police station, where Jailer Brogan dressed the wound, which was bleeding freely, the skill with which the police officer performed this work being heartily commended by Dr. Thomas, who later sewed up the deep gash, which required a number of stitches. O'Neill had been standing on the rear platform of the car, and the sudden swerving of the car threw him out into the roadway.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES MEET

Annual Convention of Association to Be Held in This City Near End of Next Month

The Provincial School Trustees' Association will hold its tenth annual convention in the George Jay School, October 21 to 24. It is expected that the gathering will be a record one in various respects, as the attendance is almost certain to be unusually large and many important questions are to be dealt with.

At a recent meeting of the executive it was decided to devote a large portion of the four days to a discussion of the various questions affecting the different boards and localities. It is expected that very few boards will be unrepresented, while a large number will send almost their entire membership. The Victoria board, assisted by surrounding boards, will take every pains to make the stay of the delegates interesting.

The various secretaries are asked immediately to hand in a list of resolutions for discussion. These should be in the secretary's hands immediately. It is time now for the various boards to select their delegates. Every member of every board may be a delegate. These names should be handed the secretary some time before the Institute meets. All delegates to the convention will pay full fare one way, and take a standard certificate, which will secure their return free.

Besides the Institute proper a part of the four days will be allotted to visiting schools.

The programme of the work and entertainment for the meeting of the Trustees' Association will be prepared by Trustees McIntosh, Jay and Hayward, who were appointed by the School Board last night to undertake this work. The school trustees of the neighboring school boards will be asked to join with the city trustees in entertaining the visiting delegates. Trustee McIntosh, president of the Association, left last night for Vancouver, where he will today attend a meeting of the executive committee.

COMING EVENTS

Lutheran Church—The Ladies of Grace Lutheran church will meet this afternoon at the home of Mrs. MacLean, 915 Empress avenue.

School Opening—The opening exercises of the George Jay School will be held tomorrow (Friday) afternoon, commencing at 2 o'clock. A good programme will be rendered by the pupils. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Hive Meeting—The regular review of Victoria Hive No. 1 Ladies of the Maccabees will be held in Foresters' Hall, Broad street, on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. The question of a Hospital Fund is to be discussed, also there is to be initiation.

Harvest Festival—Another of the efforts forwhich the Salvation Army is widely noted has been arranged for, in the shape of the Harvest Festival. Preparations are on foot to make the occasion one of great success in this city. A series of appropriate meetings is being organized by the local corps, which promises to be of special interest and attraction.

An advertisement appears in today's issue of this paper of a most important sale of lots at Prince George, known as Fort George Indian Reserve, on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. The sale will take place at Dominion Hall, Vancouver, commencing September 17, at 10 a.m.

STATUS OF WOMEN

Subject of Address to Be Given by Miss Bulnois, of London, to Women's Canadian Club

Miss Helen Bulnois, of London, Eng., will address the Women's Canadian Club next Monday afternoon at 3:30 at the Alexandra Club on the status of women in England and various other countries. The lecture should be a great treat. The lecturer is a daughter of Mr. Justice Bulnois of London, England, who was at one time chief judge of the High Court of the Punjab, and afterwards Recorder of Indian appeals at the Privy Council.

Of French descent, Miss Bulnois speaks that language almost as well as English, which stood her in great stead when she lectured last year in the Salon Rouget de Lisle, Paris. Miss Bulnois is not only a lecturer but a dramatic reciter of considerable power and has made many appearances in London. One of her most noteworthy appearances was at the Eolian Hall when she recited at a concert given in aid of Royal Military Benevolent Fund and received the special thanks of Lord Roberts. She is also interested in the science of mind healing, and has written a book on the subject, full of helpful thoughts, and has also published in French a book on auto-suggestion. Had it been possible, her lecture before the Women's Canadian Club on Monday would probably have been along these lines, as it is a subject of which she never tires, but as it is she will address the adherents of the Progressive Thought movement on Sunday morning at 11 o'clock at their temple, corner Pandora Avenue and Blanchard Street.

Miss Boulnois came through Canada by way of the Rockies, and spent some time this Summer at Lake Louise. While at Banff she gave a dramatic recital in aid of the Anglican Church there, and was able afterwards to hand them the neat sum of $150. She was a guest of the Alpine Club at their Lake O'Hara camp. She is at present staying at the Alexandra Club, and will be in the city until about the middle of next week.

It is interesting to note that one of Miss Boulnois' brothers was Major William Boulnois, R.A., who lost his life in 1905 during his term as Governor of the Bahr el Ghazel in Egypt.

couver as they were leaving the Victoria boat yesterday morning, Yoki Singh and Dussant Singh, whom the Victoria police suspect of having held up a brother Hindu on the streets of the capital last Tuesday night, were sent back last evening in charge of Detective Turner, of Victoria. The local police had telephoned a description of the men to the Vancouver police, and Detective O'Grady arrested them on sight.

In Women's Realm

The Hon. Monica Grenfell

The Magic Apple

"A thing of beauty is a joy forever."
Tho' years becloud it, never may they sever
Its lovely essence utterly from earth;
Never a joy was born but hath rebirth.
There was a sunset lost, long, long ago,
An autumn sunset seen through boughs.
A boy's eyes brightening in the amber glow
Gave to his mind no more of it to house
For the delight of manhood's pensive days
Than the bare memory of time and place;
So nigh forgot it seemed
As something he had dreamed.
Yet now the man, before whose boyish ken
The glory melted on the evening breeze,
Knows it lived on, for he hath found again
His long-lost sunset of the orchard trees.

A penny tribute to a swarthy vendor
Hath filled for me this city street with splendor.
A meagre apple: yet its crusht pulp drips
A long-forgotten savor on my lips,
A rare, faint essence tasted once before,
But only once, and suddenly I find
The honeyed gush hath loosed a long-locked door,
And all the olden splendor floods my mind,
A care-free lad I stand,
An apple in my hand,
And watch the amber glory grow and wane.
I feel upon my cheek the evening breeze,
Joy lives forever! I have found again
My long-lost sunset of the orchard trees!

Nature Study

A few days ago the purple asters were covered with small brown butterflies, or were they moths? Were the insects feeding on the honey or the pollen useful to the flowers and the gardener, or would they leave behind them eggs that would endanger next year's plants. It is safe to say that most people who passed by the garden could not answer the question any more than the writer.

And yet, is not such knowledge valuable in a community where fine gardens are not only a source of pleasure to the owners, but an asset to the city? It would be quite possible to lead the children to observe the flowers, the insects and the birds that are to be seen on their way to and from school. They might, with a little trouble, be taught to distinguish friends from enemies.

At a recent examination the results showed that in a country where lumbering is one of the principal industries young men and women grow up without being able to tell one tree from another. Would it not be much better to learn to use their powers of observation than for young people to study books of nature study or botany?

The place to study nature is out of doors. Books may and do help, but what is gained from them is of little use unless its truth is proved by the use of the student's own senses. It is much more difficult to bring the pupils into the fields or gardens or orchards, or, it may be, seashore, to study than to deliver lectures or to hear recitations, but the pleasure and profit derived from such teaching repays the trouble. Even if such excursions are not possible for teachers and their classes, the pupils will, if encouraged, do much independent study. It is not the amount of work covered, but the love for the open and the power to observe that make the study of nature really valuable.

A Lovely Girl

The Hon. Monica Grenfell, the beautiful daughter of Lord and Lady Desborough, is, to judge by her picture, a good type of the English girl. She is fond of outdoor life, and spends much of her time in rowing and fishing. The hope of England is in such girls, whether they live in cottage or mansion.

The Girl and the Home

In the investigations which have been lately carried on among the girls employed in cities it has been found that a very large proportion of these live in their own homes. This is especially true of the smaller cities, of which Victoria is one.

For the girls who live away from home philantropists have provided such institutions as the Y.W.C.A. or hostels of various kinds whose highest recommendation is that those who live there "enjoy the privileges of home."

A little inquiry even in our prosperous city, would, it is to be feared, show that fathers and mothers are often sadly inconsiderate of the needs of their wage-earning daughters. It is true that at home they have facilities for doing any work they may be obliged to do after hours. Their meals are well cooked and wholesome, and their sleeping rooms comfortable. In many homes the girls can bring their friends, whether boys or girls, to the house, and mothers and fathers meet them and help to entertain them. It is not often that such girls go wrong.

But, especially perhaps where the house is small and means limited, the girl does not care to bring her friends home, and her busy mother does not encourage her to do so. Indeed, it too often happens, that even where there is no want of means, no provision is made for the needs of girls who have left their childhood behind.

What wonder is it that such girls seek outside their homes the companionship they are denied within its shelter. Long, lonely walks or drives, secret meetings, questionable, perhaps dangerous, resorts, and dangerous amusements are but too often the consequence of what is virtually banishment from home.

How often young girls are to be met with at night in the city without proper protection, who have mothers and fathers who follow their own pursuits quite oblivious of their duty to their daughters. If these young people were given care and protection for a few years they would grow to be self-respecting women, able to take care of themselves under any circumstances.

Parents and especially mothers ought to see that their homes, whether they be large or small, are open at all suitable hours to the friends of their daughters. Nothing else can contribute so greatly to their present safety and their future happiness.

Milk and Tuberculosis

The highest medical authorities have decided that tuberculosis can be communicated to human beings from cattle suffering from the disease. It would be worse than folly for those who have no means of arriving at the truth to question their decision.

It may prove that they are mistaken, but the man, woman or child who now uses milk containing the germs of tuberculosis does so at the risk of suffering from a lingering and probably fatal disease. We all know that cattle suffer from tuberculosis. Most of us have sad cause to know that consumption in one of its many forms appears in the most unexpected places.

Intelligent stockbreeders and owners of large herds of cattle were very quick to realize that for their own sakes they must protect their animals from an insidious and destructive disease. As soon as the Government of British Columbia undertook to inspect cattle for tuberculosis these owners lent the inspectors every assistance, and before the law was made compulsory, 80 per cent of the herdmen had their cattle inspected.

Last Spring the compulsory law came into force, and since that time all the herds in the neighborhood of Victoria and on the Gulf Islands have been examined. Whenever it was found that an animal was tuberculous, it was killed. The owner received half the value, as fixed by the Department of Agriculture.

It is not claimed that in some cases this did not work a hardship to the owner, but in the end even he would profit by having a clean herd. All the babies whom he supplied with milk would be saved from partaking of milk infected by the tubercular bacilli.

It must be remembered that one inspection is not sufficient, and that unless there is some other check on the dairymen than Government inspection, it will be some time before Vancouver Island herds will be quite free from tuberculosis. It is true that every effort is being made to prevent the admission into the Province of tuberculous cattle, and that the Government is bringing in healthy pure-bred stock.

Still, tuberculosis is a persistent and an insidious disease. There is undoubtedly a temptation to elude or avoid inspection, especially in the case of owners of a single cow or of a small dairy.

It is for the mothers of the Province to safeguard the health of their own families by insisting that dairymen shall supply milk only from cows pronounced free from tuberculosis. It is easy to verify the assertion of the vendor by inquiry at the livestock branch of the Agricultural Department.

While all women are interested in preventing the use of tuberculous milk, it should be especially a matter in which members of the Anti-Tuberculosis Society are specially zealous. We pay liberally for the support of a sanitarium, and we see that the dying are cared for, but women in their own homes very seldom take precautions to prevent the use of milk containing the germs of consumption.

The Department of Agriculture in its efforts to safeguard the health of the community by stamping out tuberculosis among the cattle should receive the very heartiest support of mothers. This can be given by persistent inquiries as to whether the cows who supply the milk have or have not passed the tubercular test.

Sermon in Swedish—Rev. J. A. Carlson, from Vancouver, will speak next Sunday evening at 8:30 in Swedish in the First Baptist Church, corner Quadra and Yates. All Scandinavians are invited.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circular and testimonials.

LOCKLEY NEW HEAD OF LEAGUE

Vancouver Island League President Elected to Succeed Manson in Victoria Soccer Association.

Alex. Lockeley was unanimously elected president of the Victoria and District Soccer Association at last night's meeting, held in S. Lorimer's rooms. The choice was a very popular one, as was indicated by the enthusiastic approbation voiced by every delegate present. Mr. Lockeley was formerly vice-president of the association, and is also president of the Vancouver Island League. Sam Lorimer was elected to succeed him as vice-president.

When Mr. J. Manson, the retiring president, reiterated his determination to relinquish the office, which he has held for two years, general regret was expressed by the footballers. Mr. Manson explained that while he would always retain an interest in football affairs, pressure of other business made it impossible for him to continue as an active worker in the association. He would, however, be ready at any time to render such assistance as might lie in his power, and he sincerely hoped that success would attend the association in all its activities, and that football would prosper more commensurately with its deserts in the future than it had in the past.

Mr. Lockeley, on behalf of the association, assured Mr. Manson that his enforced retirement was sincerely regretted; he was sure that nothing but circumstances impossible of circumvention would induce Mr. Manson to leave the body which he had fathered so efficiently for two years. Mr. Manson had carried on his duties most ably during his regime, and had spared no pains to put football on a solid and self-supporting basis on the Island. A hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Manson was recorded.

On the conclusion of the election of the new officers, the schedule for the senior league series, which opens October 4, was presented. The second division schedule was held over for a week.

In the second division it is now definitely known that there will be seven teams. The Navy, which last week had three men up for regrading, but were only successful in one instance, last night obtained the consent of the league to play Wedgewood, an old senior man. They wanted Jones regraded as well, but again the league refused to grant them this. They were content, however, with the concession they had gained, and announced their intention of fielding a team.

The first division schedule follows:

October 4
Hibernians vs. J.B.A.A.
Thistles vs. V.W.A.A.
North Wards vs. S.O.E.

October 11
J.B.A.A. vs. Thistles.

Electric Dirigible Balloon

A curious model of an electric dirigible balloon, which had already been tested at Geneva and Bordeaux, is being experimented with now in Paris, and is said to be giving results that permit of all sorts of speculations as to aerial navigation in the future. The dirigable is about 12 feet long, and has six propellers, two on each side, one fore and aft, and one above and below. An electric motor is worked by wireless electricity. A wire trails on the ground, and by means of another wire projecting above the balloon the current of electric waves in the air is caught, and the motors are set in motion. The question will be whether a large and really workable dirigible constructed on this principle will give the same results.

PELKEY IS RETICENT OVER HIS CONFESSION

Refuses to Confirm or Deny Statement Credited to Him—May Settle Amicably With Burns

When seen yesterday, Arthur Pelkey refused to deny or confirm the report given out from Portland that he had confessed to participating in a "faked" fight with Tommy Burns in Calgary some months ago. He admitted that he had left a signed statement with a Portland sport writer, but explained that at the time he was feeling "sore" and had exaggerated things. He very palpably regrets ever having made the disclosure.

Regarding the announcement that he intends to break with his manager, Tommy Burns, who has a five-year contract on his services, Pelkey said he did not know exactly what he would do. He would be in Calgary in a week or so, and it is just possible that he and Burns would come to some amicable settlement. It was true that Burns owed him nearly $2,000, but he thought he would be able to collect this in Calgary.

There is no doubt that Pelkey is dissatisfied with Burns' management of his affairs. His attitude indicates that, although it is purely a non-committal one.

It is not unlikely that Pelkey will make Victoria his home from now on. He stated that his uncle, William Cassidy, who lives at Strawberry Vale, wanted him to settle down here, and he liked the country himself.

In all Pelkey's conversation there was a tone expressive of disgust with the boxing game. He evidently feels that he has not been used rightly, and, if the truth be known, has no idea at all as to what his future actions will be. Certainly an urkind fate has seemed to dog him since he broke into the limelight, and, although now he is a claimant of the world's title, he is not at all sure that there is anything in it worth while. He has no matches in sight at the present time.

Yesterday, Pelkey was deluged with telegrams from all parts of the country asking for an explanation of his alleged confession. He will be in town for a few days, and while he is here his business affairs are being looked after by Morris Condon, Bayley's manager.

PROGRAMME FOR RAY AND VARDEN SHORTENED

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Unless the plans are materially changed, Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, the professional English golfers now in this country, will play on only one course in the vicinity of New York. They are scheduled to play at Baltusrol on September 13, and both say that this is the only metropolitan course on which they will appear. They seem to harbor a bitterness of feeling against the Americans, both of them complaining, with some reason, that they have been badly treated by the press of this country ever since their arrival last month.

It looks as if the international golf battle would turn out to be a stiff one with this feeling of national peevishness added to the natural competition.

McALLISTER AND PETROSKEY DRAW

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10.—"The best fight since Ketchel and Joe Thomas fought thirty-two rounds at Colma" was the verdict of the old-time critics Tuesday night, when the referee gave a draw to McAllister and Sailor Petroskey at the end of twenty rounds.

When McAllister and Petroskey fought twenty rounds to a draw a month ago the decision was then much in question. Yesterday the fight was even.

On the score of points McAllister must be credited with fourteen of the twenty rounds, but, on the other hand, Petroskey scored three knockdowns, one in the eighteenth for a count of six and two in the nineteenth for the count of eight. McAllister came back in the twentieth like a whirlwind, and had Petroskey staggering and dizzy.

Ty Cobb Reported Sold

NEW YORK, N. Y., Sept. 10.—According to The New York Tribune, Ty Cobb, the great outfielder of the Detroit Tigers, will be a member of the New York Yankees next season. The "Georgia peach" has been sold by the Detroit club to the New York club for the largest amount ever paid for a baseball player—$40,000—so The Tribune is informed. The announcement of the sale will not be made officially until after the present season is over, but the news of the sale leaked out through a stockholder of the Detroit club. The latter refused to have his name used at this time. Clark Griffith, manager of the Senators, got wind of the negotiations between the New York and Detroit clubs and offered $100,000 for the great player. He was willing to bid higher, if necessary, but he was too late, as the deal had been consummated.

Bombardier Beats Moir

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Bombardier Wells, heavyweight champion of England, tonight retrieved his previous defeat at the hands of "Gunner" Jim Moir, the ex-champion, by knocking him out in the fifth round. The fight took place in the Canterbury Music Hall.

To cool the air far underground, and thereby permit the miners to work longer shifts, the owners of a German coal mine compress air at the surface of the ground and pipe it through the workings.

LADY GOLF CHAMPIONS COMING TO CANADA

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Three of England's lady golf champions, Miss Ravenscroft, Miss Dodd and Miss Harrison, who have accepted an invitation to participate in the Canadian championship competitions, sailed tonight. They will also represent Great Britain in the golf championships at Philadelphia.

TACOMA, Sept. 10.—Girot weakened in the seventh, and Kurfess faltered at the same time. Before Belford could be warmed up three runs were scored and the bases were filled with one out, and Victoria won the game in that inning. Charley Swain took one more step towards attaining the world's home run record when he batted the ball to deep centre field for four bags, making his thirty third home run since joining the Victoria club this season.

BURNS DISBELIEVES IN PELKEY'S CONFESSION

CALGARY, Sept. 10.—I refuse to believe that Arthur Pelkey has made the statement that is attributed to him by the news dispatches," said Tommy Burns, manager of Pelkey and promoter of the Calgary fight that Pelkey said was fixed.

Burns said: "Arthur Pelkey is my friend, notwithstanding the reports. I have a ten-year contract with him and would not cancel it under any circumstances.

"I am inclined to think that this whole thing has been framed up by Tim McGrath, who is keen to do something which will bring about the cancellation of my contract with Pelkey for his own benefit, and with the idea of taking over the contract to manage the big fellow himself. I propose to institute proceedings of a criminal nature against McGrath, and will probably bring a civil action against him also.

"As to the statement that the fight between myself and Pelkey was fixed I will only say that it is ridiculous. The fight was on the level, although I believe I could have put Pelkey out in the fourth round if I had wanted to."

RANK OUTSIDER WINS ST. LEGER STAKES

DONCASTER, Eng., Sept. 10.—The one hundred and thirty-seventh renewal of the St. Leger stakes, $32,500, for three-year-old entries, colts and fillies, one mile six furlongs and 132 yards, this being the last of the five classic races, was won today by the rank outsider, W. Hall Walker's bay colt, Night Hawk, by Gallinule-Jeans Folly, who started at 50 to 1. Outsiders filled second and third places, J. B. Joel's White Magic, 33 to 1, being second, and Captain J. H. Greer's Seramond, 33 to 1, third. The winner was ridden by Wheatley.

Twelve started, also runs including the favorite, Louvois, 9 to 4; Aghdoe, 9 to 2; Bachelor's Wedding, 5 to 1; Arda, Birlingham, Curragh, Jameson, Rosewarthy, and Taslett. The bookies made practically a clean sweep, most of the public money being on Louvois.

Incognito Cricketers Lead

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—When stumps were drawn today in the cricket match on the Staten Island grounds between the Incognito eleven, of England, and the Gentlemen of New York, the visitors had declared their first innings closed at 287 for the loss of seven wickets, and the New York eleven had made exactly 100 runs with seven wickets down.

GREAT FUTURE FOR FOOTBALL

Tour of Canada by Two Old Country Association Teams Promised—Victoria Players Would Like to Meet Them.

Great things are promised for next year in football in Canada, according to Tom Watson, a Fort William booster, proof being a letter received by him from the Old Country, and now being circulated in the interests of the game, containing news that the international board, which governs the game, may meet in Canada. Not only that, but it is confidently stated that next year will see two Old Country clubs touring the Dominion, six having offered to make the trip. The probable choice will be the Glasgow Rangers and Newcastle United.

This communication arouses speculation as to whether local footballers would be allowed to compete against the tourists were they to visit this city. Several local footballers were sounded in this regard yesterday and while they thought the question was hardly one for serious consideration at this early date, a determination was nevertheless expressed to take advantage of any opportunity afforded to pit their skill against either or both of the great teams mentioned. They feared that some objection to such a meeting might be interposed by the B.C.A.A.U., but were not in a position to say what action would be taken by the local football body should a contingency of that kind arise.

In this connection it may be interesting to know that the Dominion Football Association, a body with which the majority of the organizations east of the Rocky Mountains are affiliated, has adopted an amateur rule essentially the same as that governing the game here except for one condition which permits the clubs to play against any team affiliated with the International Federation of Football Associations, which would apply in the case of a tour by the Glasgow Rangers or Newcastle United. The rule follows:

"An amateur is a person who has not (1) competed with or against professionals; (2) competed for a staked bet, money or gate receipts; (3) taught promoted or engaged in athletics as a means of livelihood, or for personal gain; (4) received any valuable consideration other than traveling or hotel expenses for athletic services or loss of time in connection with athletic sports or exercises; (5) sold or pledged his prizes; (6) entered a competition under a name other than his own"—it being provided that notwithstanding the forgoing, or anything in this constitution to the contrary, any club or team affiliated with this association may play with or against any club or team affiliated with the International Federation of Football Associations.

FRANK GREER MATCHED TO ROW EDDIE DURNAN

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—Frank B. Greer, former amateur sculling champion, is matched to row Eddie Durnan, of Toronto, champion of America, for the title and $1,000 a side on Toronto Bay on Saturday, September 27. Greer is being backed by William Haines, coach of the Union Boat Club of Boston.

Should Greer beat Durnan, who last year was beaten by Ernest Barry on the Thames in England, Greer, accompanied by Paul Withington, will go to England early next year.

Greer will race against Barry, present world's champion, who has already announced his willingness to race against Greer, while Withington, who is a former Harvard varsity crewsman, will try to win the diamond sculls at the annual Royal English Henley regatta in July.

Another professional race of interest will be the meeting of Jim Ten Eyck, jr., coach of the Duluth Boat Club, and John H. Hackett, of Minnesota, to take place in the Northwest this Fall.

Taking Trips to Planet Venus

Ernest Archdeacon writes that he is convinced the present form of aerial navigation will in a few years be as out of date as is the horse today. Humanity, he thinks, will soon have discovered something better than the aeroplane, and the children of the present generation will not only be able to girdle the earth in a time now unthought of, but will pay visits to the planets. According to the mathematical calculations of Emault Pelterie, the coming means of interplanetary transports will be Jules Verne's shell, transformed into a self-propelling rocket, which will be able to girdle the earth in 66 minutes. Radium, he says, may also be made to work by reaction in paying a visit to Venus. M. Archdeacon is the most prominent patron of aviation in France.

RETURN VISIT OF AUSTRALIANS

Arrangements Completed at Meeting Yesterday for Two Matches With the Touring Cricketers This Month.

Arrangements were completed at a meeting of Messrs. Reeves, Nicholson and Coates yesterday for the return visit of the Australian cricketers on September 25, 26 and 27. The promoters have received definite word of the Cowichan Club's willingness to meet the tourists, and Mr. Crawford Coates is now planning the selection of the strongest possible aggregation of twenty-two youngsters to go against the visitors in the second match.

Cowichan, who are champions of the Pacific Coast for the year, will play the Australians September 25 and the youngsters will provide the opposition in a two-day encounter on September 26 and 27.

A request has been issued that all cricketers under twenty-one years of age who are able to accept places on the team send in their names to Mr. C. Coates on or before Friday, or call on Mr. Coates at his office, Winch Building, between the hours of 5 and 6, on Friday afternoon. It is desired to have as large a list of names as possible, in order that the twenty-two selected should be truly representative of Victoria's junior cricketing strength. It is believed that Mr. Hayward, of Cowichan, a wicket-keeper of well-known ability, will captain the boys, it having been stipulated that one senior may be used in this capacity.

No fear is felt that the financing of the matches will occasion trouble. The three gentlemen most actively interested state that the outlook is most promising, and that unless some unforeseen circumstances arises it will be possible adequately to provide for the comfort and entertainment of the tourists during their week's stay in the city. The matches will be played on the Jubilee Hospital grounds.

Novel Styles in New Fall Millinery

We announce our readiness to reveal the authoritative creations from the realms of fashion. Our Millinery Department radiates the artistic intermingling of harmonious color effects; each hat is exclusive and elegant in its own style treatment, and the collection is so wide that we can adequately meet every requirement of becomingness and price appropriation. Tango and Roman are the newest colors shown in New York, while brown, white and black are just as much in fashion. Aigrettes, wings and fancy mounts add greatly to give the finishing touches to many of the beautiful models. Pretty ribbons, ostrich, neumidy and other trimmings are used in many instances. Small, natty and medium sized hats are the season's favorite styles—a large number in plush, velvets, satins, velours and velvets—a truly remarkable showing.

Custom-Made Tailored Suits a Specialty

Our popular Custom Tailoring Department under the management of a new expert craftsman is now open for the Fall trade. Remember, every suit that this section turns out is made from start to finish on the premises, and also has the personal attention of our tailor, and we guarantee a perfect fit. Call in and have a talk with him about your new Fall Suit. He'll be pleased to see you.
Strictly Plain-Tailored Suits at $15.00; Coats from $12.50. These prices, of course, do not include materials, which must be purchased at this store.

CUP HOLDERS DEFEND TITLE

Armstrong Lacrosse Players Will Return Home Without Mann Cup—Are Hopelessly Defeated by Vancouver.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 10.—Armstrong's lacrosse players will return home without the Mann Cup. They played two matches for the trophy and were hopelessly beaten in both engagements.

The V. A. C. players romped home winners by a score of sixteen goals to two in the first match on Saturday and today in the final they collected nine more against one by the challengers. In the two matches Vancouver's total was twenty-six against Armstrong's three. Today's exhibition was a poor one. The cup holders were minus the services of Bobby Knight, and this made a hole in the home combination. But even without him the champions played rings around the visitors.

FINAL MATCH FOR CLAN McKENZIE CUP

The final match for the Clan McKenzie Cup will be played on the Beacon Hill Bowling Green this afternoon at 2.30. The series has been interesting throughout, and it is expected that the match today will draw a large number of enthusiastic bowlers. The contesting rinks are Mr. J. Yates' and Mr. W. Oliphant's.

TARIFF REVISION BILL

Opinions Differ as to Effect of Measure on Canadian Producer and Consumer

OTTAWA, Sept. 10.—Opinions differ in Ottawa as to the probable effect on Canadian producer and consumer of the new United States tariff.

At the Mathews-Laing head office, the associate manager, in the absence of Mr. Gray, stated that the removal of duty on Canadian goods means an increase of from one to two cents per pound in the price of beef to the Canadian consumer. The view was also expressed that if the wholesale houses are forced to raise beef prices a cent or two per pound, there is no telling what the retailer may in turn charge the consumer. It may mean even three or four cents per pound or more for beef to the householder.

Mr. A. C. Soper, manager of the Ogilvie Milling Co., stated the reduction of the United States duty from 25 cents to 10 cents per bushel on wheat coming from Canada would have practically no effect here.

"As a matter of fact," said Mr. Soper, the United States has practically had free wheat for years. The 25 cent duty was given to the miller. Now the American miller uses Canadian wheat only to improve the quality of his export flour; none is used for domestic purposes. In the export flour business the American miller is given a rebate of almost 24 cents on his original duty of 25 cents. The rebate practically means free wheat, so that the new regulation should mean no change in present prices."

ORDERED DEPORTED

Man Arrested in Connection With New Westminster Bank Robbery in the Hands of Canadian Officials

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 10.—Martin Powell, the alleged New Westminster, B.C., bank robber, over whom a fight against deportation to Canada has waged in Detroit courts for the past year, was deported to New Westminster via Windsor today.

Accompanied by George T. Bradshaw, chief of police of New Westminster; Walter Jones, immigration inspector of the same place; William Wolfe, a Pinkerton detective, of Detroit, and Duncan Lyon, deputy United States marshal, Powell left Detroit from the Union Depot and crossed to Windsor, where Lyon turned the prisoner over to the Canadian authorities.

Powell was arrested in Detroit in July, 1912, charged with complicity in robbing the bank in New Westminster of $270,000.

HARRY K. THAW DEPORTED

Taken to Vermont Border and Is Later Placed Under Arrest by the Sheriff

OTTAWA, Sept. 10.—Hon. C. J. Doherty, as Actiig Minister of the Interior, today said he had rejected Thaw's appeal from the decision of the immigration board of inquiry, upholding the findings of the board and ordering the deportation of Thaw forthwith. This order was carried out this morning.

The writ of habeas corpus or writ of prohibition issued at Montreal, said Mr. Doherty, did not enjoin the immigration authorities from taking this step.

COATICOOK, Que., Sept. 10.—Harry K. Thaw was taken to the Vermont border at 8 o'clock this morning.

COLEBROOK, N.H., Sept. 10.—Harry K. Thaw wandered about the hills of Coos County, N.H., for three hours today after being thrust across the Canadian border at Norton Mills, and was arrested by Sheriff Drew, of Coos County, at Little Schoolhouse, five miles from Colebrook, just before noon.

Railway Cartage System

OTTAWA, Sept. 10.—The railway commission will not require the railways to show cause for their abolition of the cartage system, after all. The case has been removed to the October sitting, and it is announced it will be dropped altogether, which will remove the last hope of the shippers of inducing the railways to retain this service, which they have supplied for a quarter of a century.

CHAMPION ELUDES PROMOTER McINTYRE

Welsh Says He Will Camp on Ritchie's Trail—Condon Trying to Get Date for Bayley

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 10.—With Willie Ritchie hot-footing it for San Francisco without giving any reasons for his sudden disappearance from Vancouver, everything was quiet around fight headquarters today. The champion passed through Seattle today, but failed to give any reasons for running out of the match with Welsh. The latter is still in the city. He dropped his training today, and will probably go South immediately, and camp on Ritchie's trail. If California promoters will give him a match with the American, he is ready to meet Ritchie on American soil, and will take a chance on the percentage. "I want a chance at the title, and I'm entitled to it," declared the Britisher today.

Late today Welsh received a wire from New York offering him a match there next month with either Leach Cross or Tommy Murphy. He will accept if there is no chance for a meeting with Ritchie in California.

SEATTLE, Sept. 10.—Chet McIntyre left tonight on the 11:30 o'clock C. P. R. boat for Vancouver after an unsuccessful effort to have Willie Ritchie return with him. He says he may get a substitute for Ritchie to meet Welsh.

Morris Condon stated yesterday that he expected to get word in a day or so regarding Bayley's chance of getting the September 20 date in Vancouver. He intended to go over to Vancouver himself to conduct negotiations.

JUNIOR TENNIS FOR TITLES NEXT WEEK

The lawn tennis tournament for the junior championships of British Columbia begin on Monday next, and all entries must be received by the honorary secretary, Mr. G. O. Foulkes, Box 1140, Victoria, by Saturday evening next, Sept. 13. These championships are for both boys and girls under 16, and, in addition to the Charles Edward Pooley Challenge Cups, which go with the titles, there will be presented two prizes for the winner and the runner-up in each class.

OLD COUNTRY FOOTBALL

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The following are the results of Old Country football games played today:

First Division—Derby County, 2; Middlesborough, 2.

Second Division—Bradford, 3; Grimsby, 0.

Southern League—Southampton, 0; Brighton, 0. South End, 2; Reading, 1. Watford, 2; Norwich, 0.

The Thistle Football Club will hold a meeting this evening at 8:15 o'clock in the club room, Government and Yates Streets. All interested in the welfare of the club are requested to be present.

NEW GROUPING OF EUROPEAN POWERS

Conditions Which Have Followed Wars in the Balkans Already Producing Signs of Fresh Combinations

For years it was a commonplace of European politics that the expulsion of the Turk, "bag and baggage" from Europe would bring about an inevitable collision between the great powers. The Turk has gone. Even if allowed to retain Adrianople, very little of him would remain.

The redrawing of the map of Europe has served to bring into contrast the conflicting interests of the various political groups, and for the first time for a generation the old alliances are seen in dissolution, for the new conditions in the Balkans have produced the signs of new combinations.

The policy of Austria-Hungary is simply cynical. In the past she used her geographical position to prevent the expansion of Servian trade. In the present she has used her military power to prevent the expansion of Servian territory to the Adriatic. With one eye on Durazzo and another on Salonica, she finds herself opposed to the combination of Greece and Servia against Bulgaria, and so she suddenly becomes an advocate of the Bulgarian cause, ignoring, for the time being, the fact that Bulgaria too lays claim to Salonica.

As for the Russian attitude, no one is in any doubt about it. She repaid Roumania for saving her at Plevna by depriving that state of Bessarabia; she desired the humiliation of Bulgaria because a vast Bulgarian state, creeping down to Constantinople, was a menace to her hopes on the Bosphorus; she has no particular affection for Greece, for the Greeks are not Slavs, and may at any time prove a thorn in the flesh of that great Slav confederacy which she has pictured herself as controlling in the Balkans. And so she carried on her method of hand-to-mouth diplomacy, always supported ultimately by the Cossack.

It is on the triple alliance that the Balkan changes have perhaps struck their most severe blow. Austria-Hungary and Italy both laid claim to Albanian influence, and so find themselves with an Albanian question added to the already existing question of Italia irredenta. Austria-Hungary having made mistake after mistake, having almost come to blows with Italy over the garrisons of the Tyrolese Alps, now suddenly finds herself pursuing a policy which Germany cannot approve of, and so takes up a stand in support of the Russian demand for a revision of the treaty of Bucharest. Ever since the formation of the triple alliance, Germany has acted with loyalty, in the face of the most immense provocation from her two allies.

Blaze at Fort William

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Sept. 10.—Fire, starting in a wooden storeroom, spread to the power house and damaged the machines at the Canada Iron Corporation last night. While no estimate of the damage was made, it is probable that the works will have to shut down for a short time until repairs are made. About five hundred men are employed.

MANY COTTAGES BURNED

Over Hundred Dwellings and Six Hotels Destroyed at Summer Resort in Massachusetts

SALISBURY BEACH, Mass., Sept. 10.—This summer resort was swept by fire yesterday, a church, six hotels, the postoffice and 150 cottages being destroyed. Two hundred thousand dollars worth of property was wiped out.

Apparatus and firemen from Haverhill, Amesbury and Portsmouth helped in the fight against the fire. Several were torn down before the flames were checked.

MEXICAN ENVOY AT WASHINGTON

tion from Washington that the Mexican authorities would be held responsible for any injury done to Americans, telegrams were sent today by order of the President, to all governors, to prevent, by all the means in their power, demonstrations of any sort against foreigners on the occasion of the celebration of the Independence Day, September 16. The telegrams were sent by Dr. Urrutia, Minister of the Interior.

Rumors of Trouble

Charge O'Shaughnessy's action was inspired by rumors, which in recent years, always have been current just before Independence Day, of foreign uprisings. In part, Mr. O'Shaughnessy's note read:

"By special order of the President, I beg you dictate at once most appropriate and energetic measures to prevent disturbances which might arise during the coming celebration. Especially, it is desired that nothing shall occur to affect the persons or interests of foreigners residing in your city."

The President expressed his desire further to demonstrate "our cultured respect for the subjects of friendly nations, and that we entertain and have a fraternal regard which is dictated by reason of justice that governs the Mexican people and the government of the Republic."

URGE UNION LABOR ON SCHOOL BUILDINGS

Trades and Labor Council Ask School Board to So Stipulate in All Contracts—New Buildings.

Urging that in all specifications for school buildings the school board should insist that only union labor be employed and the union scale of wages paid, a deputation representing the Trades and Labor Council waited upon the Board of School Trustees at the regular monthly meeting of that body last night. The deputation, composed of Messrs. Frank Perrott, J. L. Martin, W. A. Parkinson and S. Thompson, pointed out that up to the present the work done on school buildings has been carried on by the contractors on the "open shop" principle, that the City Council has protected the union workers in all contracts let by the city, and that as the unions stand for the highest grade of work the board should assist the movement wherever possible. Up to the present, while the board has been paying a rate of wages equal to the union scale, non-union workmen have been securing advantage of it.

Trustee Jay stated that the board has no general specifications, but in all specifications drawn for school buildings it is stipulated that a standard rate of wages be paid. The specifications for the new Hollywood School are now in course of preparation, and, as in the case of the other schools, will stipulate that only men of British nationality and residents of the city shall be employed, and Oriental labor is strictly excluded.

Trustee Hayward, referring to his resolution, submitted and approved at a former meeting of the board to the effect that no workingmen shall be employed on school buildings other than residents of the city and British subjects, asked leave to amend it to provide that such workmen shall have been residents at least for a period of six months. He also urged that hereafter in all school contracts it be specifically stipulated that the union rate of wages be paid.

These suggestions were approved of by the board and will be so stipulated in all specifications drawn in future.

New School in James Bay

As a result of the consideration by the building and grounds committee of the problem of congestion in the schools, the committee reported advocating the erection of a four-roomed building on the new site belonging to the board in James Bay. Mr. J. C. M. Keith will be asked to prepare the preliminary plans therefor. Brick schools for manual training classes will also be erected on the North Quadra Street and Hollywood School sites. Owing to the unsuitableness of the old Baptist Church premises, Quadra and Yates Streets, recently secured by the board for classrooms for Chinese students, that building will be relinquished and a lease of the old schoolroom of St. John's Church, Fisguard Street, will be secured at a rental of $55 per month. The committee's recommendation to the effect that the Gamewell fire alarm equipment for the new Burnside and Oakland Schools be ordered direct from the manufacturers at a cost of $1,400 was also adopted.

Consideration was given of Dr. Wasson's recent report upon infectious diseases among children. It showed that, in the case of such diseases, especially whooping-cough and measles, the percentage of cases here was very high up to the age of six years. This, Dr. Wasson stated, was most unsatisfactory, and he urged that it was the board's duty to conduct a campaign of education to warn parents that such diseases are most serious with children of tender years. If by care on the part of parents these juvenile diseases could be delayed until the children were older, it would be less serious for the children. To Trustee Dr. Donald's suggestion that, as children do not commence school until they are six years of age, what illnesses they may suffer prior to that age cannot be said to be a matter for which the board has any responsibility, Dr. Wasson pointed out that the board should educate parents and disseminate knowledge of such diseases.

No Money for Reports

Trustee Dr. Hall stated that he, as city medical health officer, had proposed issuing a quarterly report containing data of great educational value to the people on health matters. In other up-to-date cities such reports were issued monthly, but when he suggested to the finance committee of the City Council that quarterly reports should be prepared and published, it was stated there was no money available for the purpose, though to carry out his plan would have cost but $30 for each quarterly report.

Dr. Wasson's report was tabled, and will be further considered at a subsequent meeting.

The following appointments were made to the teaching staff: The Misses Gower, Bessie Douglas, Maud Scott, L. M. Stiff, Margaret Robertson, Irene Aird and Eunice McNaughton. The resignations of Miss Edith Jesse and Mr. Thomas Dodson, the latter manual training inspector at the Boys' Central School, were accepted. Leave of absence was granted to Miss Marion E. Blankenbach.

The offer of the Navy League Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire of a medal for the best essay on the subject "H. M. S. New Zealand," was referred to the superintendent to bring the matter before the scholars. The offer of Mr. H. B. Johnston of a gold medal to the student of the commercial course making the best showing in the typewriting class was accepted with thanks. The use of the Victoria West manual training centre will be allowed to the classes of the Lampson Street School, Esquimalt, until such time as the latter school is completed, the cost of materials used to be borne by the Esquimalt School Board.

On motion of Trustee Dr. Hall, the building and grounds committee will report upon the feasibility and cost of all fuel fog schools in place of coal, Trustee Hall pointing to the probable high price of coal as a reason for taking the possibilities of the liquid fuel into consideration.

Accounts to the amount of $4,447 were passed and ordered paid, and the recommendation of the finance committee relative to increases according to the salary schedule was approved.

The offer of the British Campaigners' Association of a challenge shield for competition among the cadets of the schools of the city and immediately adjacent municipalities was accepted with thanks.

SUNKEN ART TREASURES

Relics of the Sack of Athens in 86 B. C. Reported Found Off Tunisian Coast

A correspondent, writing to The Paris Liberte, gives particulars of an archaeological find of the greatest interest. At Madhia, on the Tunisian coast, five or six years ago, some Greek sponge fishers noticed a strange mass of wreckage lying at a depth of 120 feet to the north of Madhia Lighthouse. Amidst a jumble of timbers lay splendid marble columns, bronze statuettes, a superb life-size boy's figure, and a Hermes of Dionysos, which they succeeded in bringing to the surface.

M. Merlin the head of the Tunisian Antiquities Department, applied for and finally obtained various subventions, and the admiral commanding the Tunisian squadron sent a powerful tug and two torpedo boats to give assistance. It has now been ascertained that the sunken ship was a vessel of about four hundred tons, a hundred feet long and twenty-five broad. She was laden with an extraordinarily heterogeneous cargo. Not only blocks of marble, but bases and capitals for columns, effigies, statues, furniture, tiles, leaden piping, lamps, amphorae, etc. Among the fragments were found figures of a demigod and a maiden and faun, which correspond almost exactly with those upon what is known as the Borghese vase dug up in Rome and now in the Louvre. The Hermes bears the signature "Boethus," the sculptor of the celebrated "Child with a Goose," of the second century B.C., and there are numerous other very fine specimens of old Greek sculpture among the treasures already recovered.

The bottom of the hold contains about sixty columns of blueish-white marble thirteen feet high, which were probably one of the causes of the wreck of an evidently too heavily freighted ship. All the inscriptions deciphered relate to Attica and personages of the middle fourth century B.C., and it might have been thought that the vessel dated from that period but for the Boethus statue and a lamp of a pattern only introduced into Attica at the end of the second century B.C. Some writing on lead ingots also is in the Latin of that epoch, and experts so far have concluded that the vessel was loaded in Attica for Rome, and probably the cargo was the spoil after the taking of Athens by Sulla in 86 B.C. Both Lucian and Pliny relate how Sulla pillaged Athens, and the former describes a wreck off Cape Malea of a ship full of works of Greek art, including a picture by Xeuxis. Rome's loss two thousand years ago, however, becomes French gain, and soon travelers will be able to admire these priceless relics in the Bardo Museum at Tunis.

ROMANCE IN THE HISTORY OF AVIATION

Former Officer of British Army Tells of His Flying Machine Which Refuses to Be Upset —Triumph Over Difficulties.

An aeroplane, shaped like an arrow, has been evolved which refuses to turn turtle in the most gusty wind. So simple is the control of this machine that a novice can learn to pilot it within an hour. Its stability is such that an expert aviator has performed a step-dance on the driving seat when the machine has flown unattended at a height of 800 feet. The British War Office has two of these machines, and it is stated that another is to be built in France and handed over to the French Government.

The creation of this flying arrow, which refuses to be upset, provides probably the greatest romance in the history of aviation. It is a story of the triumph of dogged British pluck. The inventor, Mr. J. W. Dunne, ex-lieutenant of the British Army, is an invalid suffering from the after-effects of enteric fever caught during the South African campaign. His aeroplane, which has often been driven by him during the experimental stages, might be termed an aircraft for invalids. As a matter of fact, one of its subsidiary virtues is the fact that it imposes no physical strain upon the pilot.

Inventor's Story

The story, as told by Mr. Dunne, opens with an inspiration created by the novelist, Mr. H. G. Wells. In fact, the original designs of the machine were guarded by Mr. Wells for Mr. Dunne on his return to South Africa.

"When invalided home in 1901," said Mr. Dunne, "I developed an interest in the possibilities of flight. Mr. Wells' insistence on the first importance of stability impressed me, and I set to work to evolve a flying machine which should have as its first merit safety. Next to safety, I aimed at stability and simplicity.

"Within two years I had made 3,000 models, and from the small models I developed a man-lifting glider, and finally a full-sized machine. My research was conducted independent of the Wright Brothers' experiments, and the result is that my machine is the only one today that has not the Wright method of control.

"After I had proceeded some distance with my experiments," continued Mr. Dunne, "I turned my attention to bird flight. I observed that no bird had a vertical rudder, and that no bird accustomed to flying under sea-going conditions had a tail. I also noticed that sea-going birds flew with their wings sloped back, and that they changed their direction of flight by raising the tips of the wings. These natural facts so coincided with my preconceived ideas of the essentials for stability that I was convinced that I was on the right track.

Machines Tested

"In 1905 Colonel Capper suggested to the War Office that my invention should receive their attention. Under their auspices a glider was built, and then a biplane. The latter, which had only a 20-h.p. engine, actually flew. Through the kindly interest of the Marquis of Tullibardine, these experiments were carried out at Blair Atholl, the experimental grounds being guarded by the Marquis' gillies. When Captain Capper left the balloon factory in 1908 the War Office abandoned interest in aeroplanes, and Colonel Cody and myself were told to go, and take our machines with us. Then Wright came over and revived an interest.

"With support of the Marquis of Tullibardine I went to Rateshuirn in 1909. My first machine was completed in 1910, and we did an initial flight of between four and five miles. This was followed by an official test under the supervision of the Aeronautical Society, Mr. Orville Wright acting as one of the official observers. During those tests I let go of the control levers and wrote a note. Then I built a monoplane on the same principle, and again demonstrated the stability of the machine by writing in mid-air. I found that the machine would fly a straight course of two miles uncontrolled.

Single Propeller

"Following the monoplane I built a new biplane with a single propeller. On this Major Carden, of the Royal Flying Corps, who has only one hand, took his aviation certificate. This machine, piloted by Mr. N. S. Percival, carried Major Brook-Popham in its official test last December and carried them, in spite of heavy winds, successfully over Fargo Wood, a dangerous spot, where no fewer than four aviators have been killed.

"I was invited to fly in France. There my monoplane rose 600 feet per minute, and General Felix, who saw the performance, immediately ordered a biplane and asked for a hydro-aeroplane on the same principle."

The secret of the stability of the Dunne biplane lies in the angle formed by the two arms of the V, and the peculiar drooping of the tips of the planes. Apart from its stability in gusty wind, it can be banked to such an angle as to permit of continued flight in a circle of only 100 yards diameter. In this direction alone it most nearly approaches the much-desired "hoverer." The fact that its control imposes no strain upon the pilot makes it an ideal vehicle for long-distance flights. The existing Dunne biplane can carry two persons and sufficient fuel for 3½ hours' flight at fifty-five miles per hour. By a refinement in design, it is anticipated that the two machines to be constructed for the British War Office will have a speed of sixty-five miles per hour.

Mrs. Roper and her son, Master John Roper, returned to Victoria on Tuesday from Eastern Canada. The Bishop of Columbia, who has been visiting Alert Bay and other distant points of his diocese, is expected to be in the city about the 20th inst.

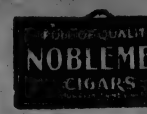

A very pretty wedding took place last evening at "Breadalbane," the officiating minister's residence, when the Rev. Dr. Campbell celebrated the marriage of Mr. James Copland Chisholm and Miss Martha, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Wright, of Port Glasgow, Scotland. The bride was accompanied by her sister, Miss Mary Wright, and the bridegroom was supported by Mr. James Johnston. The bride was gowned in a traveling dress of navy blue cloth, with hat to match. She looked very pretty. After the marriage, which was celebrated in the presence of a number of intimate friends, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Treel, Work Street. Mr. and Mrs. Chisholm will reside on Yates Street.

A quiet wedding took place at Spring Farm, Cedar Hill, the homestead of Mr. James Todd, when Miss Marian Russell, daughter of Mr. J. J. Russell, Vining Street, was married to James Adams, B.A., of Belfast, Ireland, by the Rev. Joseph McCoy, M.A. The bride was attired in a white crepe de chine gown, and carried a bouquet of white rosebuds and maidenhair ferns. She was attended by her sister, Miss Winifred, who wore a cream lace dress. The groomsman was Mr. John McNab, of Belfast, who traveled from Brandon, Manitoba, to assist in the ceremony. After luncheon was partaken of, the happy couple left on the afternoon boat for Vancouver and New Westminster. Mr. and Mrs. Adams will return later to Victoria, and then leave for Pittsburg, where they will make their future home.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at St. John's Church, on Saturday, September 6, when Miss Dorothy Agnes Chamberlaine, only daughter of Mr. James Chamberlaine, of this city, became the bride of Mr. John Henry Callow, eldest son of Mr. John Callow, also of Victoria. Rev. A. J. Stanley Ard was the officiating clergyman. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charmingly pretty in a dress of white Duchesse satin, with overskirt of chiffon and lace, caught with pearls, the bodice also being trimmed with pearls; with this was worn a veil of silk net, and wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a beautiful shower bouquet of white roses, sweet peas and asparagus fern. The bridesmaid was Miss Maymie Hare, wearing a dress of embroidered net over white silk, with blue silk girdle; and a white embroidered net cap to match, finished off with a bow of blue silk. Her bouquet was of pink carnations and asparagus fern. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. William Callow. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's father, Bay Street, where the happy young couple received the congratulations of their friends. Mr. and Mrs. Callow will reside on Edgeware Road.

DISCOVERS EARTHLY PARADISE IN SOUTH

Traveler Tells Natural History Society About Llanos of Colombia—Other Subjects of Discussion.

The Natural History Society resumed its fortnightly meetings Monday night in the King's Daughters' Rest Room, Courtney Street, when it was mentioned that four or five robins had been seen two months ago in Beacon Hill Park, but no news had been heard of the other songbirds imported last Spring. It is expected that they will be seen when the leaves come off the trees.

Mr. A. H. Maynard showed a small fish, four inches long from Saanich, striped when alive, black and white, with a most absurdly, disproportionately small head and mouth. It was identified by Mr. W. Anderson as a zebra fish. Mrs. Thomas showed a human lower jaw found on an island in Cadboro Bay, identified by Dr. Hasell as the jaw of a Siwash with the teeth ground flat by reason of the sand that was mixed with the dried salmon.

Mr. E. A. Wallace gave an address on the Llanos of Colombia, at the headwaters of the Orinoco and the Amazon. From the capital of Colombia, Bogota, (100,000 inhabitants, 8,600 feet above the sea) he crossed the divide (12,000 feet), and descended to the plains along a road cut into the rock, usually 6 feet wide, and at times 3 feet only. Mr. Wallace, who was orchid-hunting, in order to escape a revolution found his way down this path on which it is a trifle awkward to meet a drove of cattle. He was mixed up with one coming down the mountain. Their horns are four feet across, or more, and like you, they want to be on the inside of the road, and try to squeeze you and your horse out from safety. There are crosses to encourage you all along the road to show where earlier travelers were lost. Ultimately he and his companions reached the plains, and their first landlady gave them a good dinner and breakfast. They had slept comfortably, and as they left she gave them two cooked chickens and a dozen hard-boiled eggs in case no other food could be found. She refused his offered two dollars, but could at last be persuaded to take ten cents. "It is too much," she said. In ... weeks he and his friend could not spend on their living more than five dollars between them. Why? It was a lovely country. There are lots of rivers and on each side of a river is a strip of three miles of forest, then come the plains. There is no need to work, and the people don't bother about that. They build in three days a house that will last them five years. They have cattle, and don't have to herd them or round them up, for the cows come back to their corral to lick the rock salt. There are mangoes, plantains and alligator pears in plenty. You could shoot duck, geese, pigeon, armadillo, deer and iguana. Plenty of fish and turtles. The latter laid good eggs. Coffee and tobacco grew by the house, also sugar cane, and from the molasses rum was made. The farmer with a wooden plough scratched a furrow two inches deep and the maize grew fifteen feet high. Wood came from the forest, near which the house was sure to be built. A few pigs were kept to destroy snakes. Temperature in the day is about 80 degrees, at night 60 degrees. Money is of no use, for they buy nothing from outside but salt, Panama hats, and guitars. At their doors also is found the calabash tree, whose fruit, properly dissected, make for them plates, bowls and spoons. An ox costs $1. The calendar is full of holidays, and they give themselves another whenever a stranger comes to town. The wild cotton gives them stuff for the scanty clothing they year and wages are $3 a month.

Mr. E. A. Wallace was so pleased with his memories of this charming country that he burst into a song and recited a poem of his own composition on this Garden of Eden. The society was very pleased with his story, and at the end gave him a most cordial vote of thanks for his most interesting paper. Next meeting will be held on September 22.

Mr. Wallace's verses were:

Set me down upon the Llanos,
  The plains of San Martin;
With its rivers fringed with forest
  And Savannahs stretched between.
With the mountain peaks behind me,
  And the great unknown before,
And the placid waters flowing
  To the far Atlantic shore.

Where the plains await the cattle,
  And the grass is ever green;
As the great Creator left them,
  So have they always been.
And there is not any real estate
  For land's no value there;
If you want a thousand acres
  Its yours and lots to spare.

Where we loll in listless hammock
  While the tinkling "tiplay" thrums;
In this land of "La Manana,"
  Where "manana" never comes.
Where an ox is worth a dollar
  And a chicken dinner's free,
And the very plates and dishes
  Grow upon a nearby tree.

Where they plough as did old Adam,
  And the yield's a thousand fold;
Where the days are always sunny,
  And the nights' are never cold.
Where the clothes they wear are scanty
  And not always "de rigueur,"
And there is no water question,
  For all the water's pure.

Where "Central" never calls me
  And I don't need any coal;
Where there are no labor troubles
  And I'm never "in a hole."
Where no one's in a hurry
  And Old Sol is in the sky,
And life goes smoothly on and on
  Until it's time to die.

Set me down upon the Llanos,
  The plains of San Martin,
With its rivers and its forests
  And its grass that's always green.
Where still they live the simple life,
  As they did in days of yore,
With the Andes' towering peaks behind,
  The great unknown before.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The English Mail

Sir,—With reference to your article in today's Colonist re the delay to Eastern mails via the C. P. R., it is stated that last Monday's mail from Britain came via Seattle and was therefore not delayed. You then go on to say: "Why this was done, the officials cannot say." As a matter of fact, I think I am correct in stating that the mail dispatched from England via Southampton and New York per the White Star packet every Wednesday is due here the following Monday week, and this mail is always sent across the United States, and reaches this city via Seattle. The week-end mail from England is sent every Saturday by the Cunard packet from Liverpool via Queenstown and New York. This mail is also sent across the United States to Seattle, and is due here on Tuesday or Wednesday, according to the speed of the Atlantic steamer.

Most of the letter mail comes by these services via New York, but, in addition to these services, there are now three packets each week from Liverpool, one every fortnight from Bristol to Quebec. These packets convey practically all the newspapers, parcels, etc., but they also convey "first-class mail matter," such as letters, etc., when an earlier delivery is effected in Canada ,but, generally speaking, the mail service to New York is the quickest route, and most letters are accordingly sent that way.

G. MITFORD ABRAHAM.
Victoria, B. C., Sept. 10, 1913.

An Explanation

Sir,—Will you kindly permit me, through your valuable paper, to explain a statement of mine in a former letter to which Mr. Murray took exception, that is; my calling the Sikh the Indian Highlander. In India the Sikh is spoken of as the brave man of the hills, which is only another name for a brave Highlander. It is common in India to say "hills" instead of "mountains."

The great Himalayas encroach on the Punjab, the home of the Sikh, and he has the characteristics of the brave, sturdy, independent mountaineer. Instead of "lower plains," I should have said "more southern plains" of India, where the spirit of man often seems so much more crushed than the spirit of the studry Sikh who lives on the plains, uplands and mountains of the Punjab.

The home of the warlike Pathun is in Afghanistan, and the home of the brave Gurka in Nepaul, an independent native state in the Himalaya Mountains. I was looking from the viewpoint of British India, but India includes more than British India, and there are other viewpoints. The wonderful record of the Sikh places him first among our warriors of the hills. I thing Mr. Murray, in his high tribute to the bravery, loyalty, indomitable courage and personal worth of the Sikh fully entitles him to be called, if not the, at least our, Indian Highlander. He says that his is "a magnificent record indeed, and one that has not a parallel in the annals of European warfare."

Before closing, he adds: "Theirs is a grand, clean record, unsullied and honorable. They have earned the respect of the entire British race, and their title to its thanks."

ISABEL BROAD.
September 9, 1913.

SALE OF LOTS AT PRINCE GEORGE BRITISH COLUMBIA

Situated at the confluence of the Fraser and Nechaco Rivers in Central British Columbia, 450 miles northeast of Vancouver, B. C., and 467 miles east of Prince Rupert, B. C., or midway between Prince Rupert and Edmonton, Alta., on the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway.

By reason of its central location, Prince George will be the natural distributing point for the extensive territory comprised in the Pacific Province of the Dominion, and it has therefore long been the expectation of the general public that upon the completion of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, Prince George will early become a large and important centre.

Having purchased what was known as the Fort George Indian Reserve No. 1, for the purpose of locating a townsite thereon, the Grand Trunk Pacific Development Company, Limited, has caused the same to be surveyed and platted and will offer lots in this townsite for sale by public auction at Dominion Hall, Vancouver, British Columbia, commencing at 10 a. m., Wednesday, September 17th, 1913, and at Edmonton, Alberta, Wednesday, September 24th, 1913. Frank A. Ellis, Auctioneer.

The terms of this sale will be one-quarter cash and the balance payable in one, two and three years with six per cent interest. For plans apply to Ticket Offices at Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle.

G. U. RYLEY,
Land Commissioner, Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS SOOKE SCHOOL

SEALED TENDERS, superscribed "Tender for Minor Additions and Alterations, Soke School," will be received by the Honorable the Minister of Public Works up to noon of Monday, the 22nd day of September, 1913, for the erection and completion of minor additions and alterations to existing school-house at Sooke, in the Esquimalt District.

Plans, specifications, contract, and forms of tender may be seen on and after the 8th day of September, 1913, at the office of Mr. Muir, Secretary to the School Board, Sooke; or the Department of Public Works, Victoria, B. C.

Intending tenderers can, for the sum of ten dollars ($10), obtain one copy of plans and specifications by applying to the undersigned, which sum will be refunded on their return in good order.

Each proposal must be accompanied by an accepted bank cheque or certificate of deposit on a chartered bank of Canada, made payable to the Honorable the Minister of Public Works, for a sum equal to 10 per cent of tender, which shall be forfeited if the party tendering decline to enter into contract when called upon to do so, or if he fails to complete the work contracted for. The cheques or certificates of deposit of unsuccessful tenderers will be returned to them upon the execution of the contract.

Tenders will not be considered unless made out on the forms supplied, signed with the actual signatures of the tenderer, and enclosed in the envelopes furnished.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

NOTICE

TAYLOR MILL COMPANY, LTD., LY.

All accounts due to the above-named company must be paid forthwith, and all persons having claims against the said company are required to send particulars thereof to the undersigned.

Dated this 25th day of August, 1913.

WILLIAM McCARTER,
Managing Director.

Sealed tenders addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tener for Wharf at Kaslo, B. C.," will be received at this office until 4 p. m., on Tuesday, October 7, 1913, for the construction of a pile bent and timber decking wharf at Kaslo, District of Kootenay, B. C.

Plans, specification and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department and at the offices of J. P. Forde, Esq., District Engineer, Revelstoke, B. C.; C. C. Worsfold, Esq., District Engineer, New Westminster, B. C., and on application to the Postmaster at Kaslo, B.C.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honorable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
R. C. DESROCHERS,
Secretary.
Department of Public Works,
Ottawa, September 3, 1913.

Newspapers will not be paid for this advertisement if they insert it without authority from the Department.—47276.

Stock Markets and Financial News

PRICES ADVANCE IN STOCK MARKET

Union Pacific Leads in the Upturn in New York, Gaining Four Points During the Session.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Stocks moved upward today with Union Pacific in the foreground. It was largely around this leader that the market revolved. Although several influences contributed to the strength of the list, the advance in Union Pacific for a time was the chief agent of focusing activity on the long side. The rise in that stock of four points, although equaled by some of the minor issues, was much in excess of the gains achieved by the other active securities. It was the direct outcome of the reports that a cash bonus would be distributed to Union Pacific stockholders.

Since the sale by Union Pacific of its holdings of Southern Pacific various reports have been circulated in the street as to the probable disposition of the receipts. Rumor that a cash distribution would be ordered was repeated today and although lacking official confirmation was the principal cause for the advance of the stock. R. S. Lovett, executive head of the road, declined either to confirm or deny the report. Shorts found the floating supply of the stock scant and therefore ran up the price rapidly.

Bonds were irregular with narrow changes. Total sales, par value, $1,750,000.

United States 2's and 4's and Panama 2's declined ¼ on call. U. S. 3's advanced ¼.

MONTREAL STOCKS

MONTREAL, Sept. 10.—Assisted by the strong tone in New York, local stocks were generally on the upturn today, and the forward movement embraced several issues which have been of little prominence in the recent trading. Among these were Toronto Rails, which rose nearly three points to 142⅞ and closed 142 bid or 2 points higher than the previous day; Dominion Bridge, which scored a four-point advance to 122, and closed at the high; Soo, which rose 2 points to 136 were features. Bank of Commerce shares were also strong features, rising 3 points to 208 and closing 207½ bid.

Total business 6,901 shares; 1,083 mining shares, 1,235 Rights and $12,100 bonds.

LONDON EXCHANGE

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Money was plentiful and discount rates were firm today.

The stock market developed a more cheerful tendency under fresh buying and bear covering. The rally, which started in American shares and Copper stocks, extended to the other sections, even Home Rails participating and closing higher. Better labor reports helped gold mines, but Japanese bonds eased off.

Americans opened steady with prices around parity. Union Pacific was the feature of the trading. The stock advanced a point during the forenoon and later jumped two more on New York buying. The rest of the list hardened in sympathy and closed firm.

GRAIN MARKETS

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 10.—Wheat markets were slightly easier on lower Liverpool cables and expected heavy movement in the near future firming at the close. There was a good cash demand for all grades of wheat, but few offerings on the market, although receipts are increasing. Cash oats were also in demand while barley was quiet and prices declined. Flax was slow and fluctuations narrow.

Winnipeg wheat opened unchanged to ¼c lower and closed unchanged.

American markets were easy in sympathy with coarse grains. Minneapolis opened unchanged to ¼c lower and closed ¼c to ½c lower.

Liverpool market closed ¼ to ⅜ lower with easy undertone; Paris unchanged to ¼ higher; Berlin, ½ lower; Budapest, ⅛ higher, and Antwerp ⅝ lower.

Winnipeg cash wheat closed unchanged. Cash oats closed ¼c to ½c higher. Cash flax closed unchanged and cash barley closed unchanged to 1c lower.

Inspections for the week ending September 7 were 1,322 cars. Tuesday's inspections totaled 340 cars, of which only 23 were old crop, and in sight on Wednesday were 400 cars.

EMPRESS SAILS FOR THE ORIENT

Docks at Outer Wharf Yesterday for Several Hours and Leaves Later for Yokohama and Hongkong.

MANY DISTINGUISHED PASSENGERS ON SHIP

Admiral Bacon, Naval Assistant to First Lord of Admiralty, Included Among Party of Eastern Travelers.

The big C. P. R. liner Empress of Asia docked yesterday at the Outer Wharf, at 3 o'clock, and four hours later steamed for Yokohama on her maiden outward voyage.

The powerful liner, which carried 120 passengers on her eastbound trip, proved a source of attraction, and during the afternoon several hundreds of visitors made the journey down to the dock to inspect the latest addition to the C. P. R. fleet.

Among the passengers to embark at Victoria were Professor A. Trouton and Mrs. Trouton and Captain Montagu Yates. Included in the list of those who boarded the vessel at Vancouver is Vice-Admiral R. H. Bacon, who has been managing director of the Coventry Ordnance Works since 1909. Admiral Bacon started the submarine boat service in the Royal Navy, and was naval assistant to the First Lord of the Admiralty in 1905, being subsequently appointed director of naval ordnance and torpedoes. Admiral Bacon saw service in Benin, where he was chief of the intelligence department, being mentioned in dispatches and being awarded the D. S. O., with silver medal and clasp.

The following is a full list of passengers who sailed yesterday from Victoria:

Mrs. A. Adams, Mr. A. Anderson, Mrs. Anderson, Mr. F. J. Applebee, Miss B. O. Attaway, Vice-Admiral R. H. Bacon, Mrs. Bacon, Surgeon-Colonel F. Bateson, Mrs. Bateson, Mr. W. W. Loss of French Ships

Up to the present three French ships have been lost this year, which is a greater ratio of loss than has been the case for a long time. In 1912 only one vessel, the Max, was lost, while in 1911 there was only the loss of the Madeleine, which was blown ashore during a hurricane while loading nitrate on the West Coast. Both the Max and the Madeleine were well known on the Coast. The number of British ships lost in 1912 and 1911 was eight and nine respectively, and as the vessels of French register built of iron and steel over 1,000 tons register are more numerous than the British vessels registered in the United Kingdom of the same size, it will be seen that the record of French owners is considerably better from an underwriting point as regards total losses. These, however, are not the only factors taken into consideration in fixing premiums and, taken altogether, French sailing ships are not considered to be as good risks as British-owned windjammers.

Bellucia Is Chartered

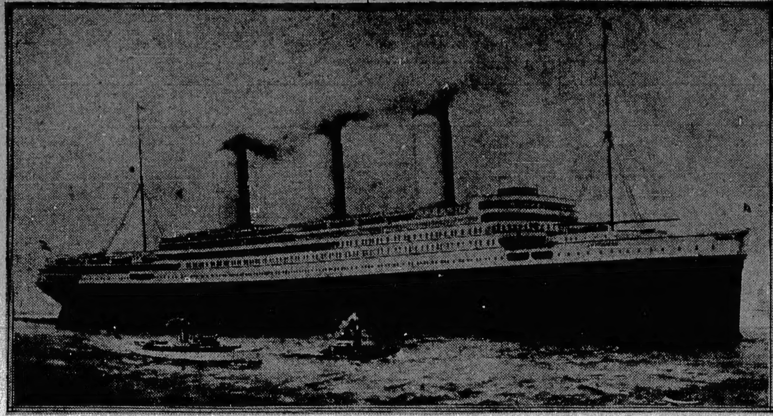

The British freighter Bellucia, which lately discharged coal for the United States Government at Mare Island, is expected to reach Comox this morning for bunker supplies. After loading, the steamer will proceed to Portland, where she is under charter to the Portland flouring mills to take a cargo to the United Kingdom.

Imperator Will Be Changed to Use Oil Fuel

The Imperator, the World's Largest Vessel, Is to Be Hauled Up on the Ways, Partially Re-Built, and Converted Into an Oil-Burner. Officials of the Hamburg-American Line Hope That This Change Will Break the Hoodoo Which Has Persistently Followed the Steamer Since She Was Launched.

SHIDZUOKA MARU ARRIVES IN PORT

Nippon Yusen Kaisha Steamer Docks With Valuable Cargo After an Uneventful Voyage From the Orient.

With the first of the season's China tea crop, and with shipments of raw silk amounting to nearly $1,000,000, the Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner Shidzuoka Maru, Captain K. Irisawa in command, steamed into port yesterday afternoon.

The steamer, which passed Cape Flattery shortly after 10 o'clock, was forced to stand outside the harbor for nearly two hours owing to the simultaneous arrival of the big C. P. R. liner Empress of Asia, which docked about 3 o'clock, and which draws so much water that Captain Irisawa was unwilling to risk entering the Outer Wharf until the big steamer had docked.

The Shidzuoka Maru brought 28 passengers for British Columbia ports and 255 tons of freight. Among the passengers for Victoria were Rev. Charles Thomson and Mrs. Thomson, with the Misses M. B. and A. M. Thomson and Master A. B. Thomson, the vessel reported by wireless yesterday afternoon, and the rest of the passengers and the freight are for Tacoma and Seattle.

The total cargo on the ship's manifest amounted to 3,755 tons, a large proportion of which was in raw silk products. Officers of the vessel report a continued spell of fine weather throughout the entire voyage.

NOTED NAVIGATOR DEAD

Captain Pierce, Master of U. S. Transport Dix, Dies of Heart Disease While on Voyage

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 10.—Captain George H. Pierce, master of the United States transport Dix, died suddenly August 25 of heart disease while the vessel was bound from Manila ports to Japan.

Captain Pierce was one of the most widely-known navigators sailing Pacific waters. He was master of the United States mine planter Ringold, which plied out of Seattle for nearly two years, and took command of the Dix about six months ago. His wife and family reside in San Francisco.

Musician Is Coming.

The liner Musician has been ordered to take the October sailing from Liverpool to northern Pacific ports in the Harrison direct line, replacing the steamship Engineer. The Musician is a vessel of 4,764 tons register and goes on berth at Antwerp, September 18, being due to clear from Liverpool October 4, via Santos and the Straits of Magellan.

GREAT STEAMER TO BE CHANGED

Hamburg-American Announces That the Imperator Will Be Brought Into Drydock and Converted Into Oil-Burner.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Berlin dispatches say that the Hamburg-American liner Imperator is to be taken off service in October, and that her boilers, which are now declared to be insufficient, will be changed to permit the use of oil.

It seems that the Imperator, which has had nothing but bad luck since the day she was launched, is to be partially rebuilt, in addition to the reconstruction of the boilers. It is stated that the sumptuous "millionaire" suites, having proved unprofitable from a commercial point of view, are to be converted into a larger number of smaller cabins.

The company hopes that after the extensive projected changes have been effected, the liner will be definitely relieved of what the Kaiser has termed "infantile ailments." The experience of the Hamburg-American line with the Imperator has had a marked effect in German shipping circles, and the policy is now to build smaller boats for ocean-passenger service. The North German Lloyd, for instance, has definitely decided not to build vessels of more than 30,000 tons.

Seized Opium Is Not Contraband

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10.—Orders were received today from Washington ordering custom officials to return at once to the British steamer Harlow a quantity of opium seized when the steamer was here August 18. The drug was designated in the vessel's manifest as "opium for use of Chinese crew." It is said the port officials here exceeded their authority when they seized it from a British vessel.

INAUGURATE ONE-SALOON SERVICE

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 10.—The Cunard steamships Andania and Alauria, new vessels of thirteen thousand tons displacement, and built with as much attention to detail for comfort of passengers as the famous Mauretania, are inaugurating for the Canadian service the one-cabin idea, which the Cunard officials say is bound to revolutionize transatlantic steamship traffic. Second-class in price, but first-class in equipment, they have none of the invidious distinctions which made the second-class on the ordinary two-class liner, unattractive.

"Our policy," said an officer of the company today, "is to provide one-class ships entirely for the Canadian service, and this will be extended, no doubt, to New York in time. Second-class passengers will get a good ship to themselves, instead of being herded on the afterpart of the 'between decks.'"

ROYAL MAIL HAS MADE NO PLANS

Representative of Company Issues Denial of Rumor That San Francisco Is to Be Terminal of New Service.

Denying the report published yesterday in San Francisco newspapers that the Golden Gate city is to be the terminal of a steamship line from Europe, Mr. E. J. M. Nash, special representative of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company, telegraphed The Colonist last night that no definite decision has been made as yet with regard to the establishment of headquarters on the Pacific Coast.

Mr. Nash's telegram reads as follows:

"Referring to reported interview with me in San Francisco press last week, and reproduced in your paper, stating that headquarters of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company would be established in San Francisco and that city would be made the terminal of a steamship line from Europe, I should be obliged if you would correct this misreported interview and state that no definite decision has been made by the company at present as to headquarters on the Pacific Coast, also that the terminal of the proposed European service will be at a port in the North, and that vessels would call at all Pacific Coast ports where business offers and conditions of harbors permit."

Mr. Nash recently paid a visit to Victoria, and, in an interview, stated that the company which he represented had been watching for several years the development of the harbors on the Pacific Coast, and, in any extension of their trade in these waters, the importance of the harbors of Victoria and Vancouver would not be overlooked. Mr. Nash was particularly impressed with the harbor improvements now being undertaken by the Dominion Government in Victoria, and prophesied that the port of Victoria would soon become famous among the world's great trading centres.

Has Perilous Voyage.

Bringing 65 passengers and approximately 1,250 tons of freight, the steamship Watson of the Alaska Steamship company, Capt. James R. Brennan commanding, reached Seattle Tuesday from San Francisco. While steaming between Grays Harbor and Cape Flattery Monday night the Watson encountered one of the worst hail storms ever experienced by her officers and crew. Capt. Brennan said the hail stones were unusually large and swept the vessel's house and decks like canister. The storm continued for several hours and was accompanied by flashes of lightning which made it possible to read a newspaper on the Watson's bridge. The vessel also encountered heavy head seas which slightly delayed her. She brought big consignments of California fruits and vegetables and miscellaneous merchandise. Her passenger list consisted of fifty-one first cabin and fourteen second cabin passengers.

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridan west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot above the average level of the lowest low water in each month of the year.

Esquimalt—To find the depth of the water on the sill of the drydock at any time, add 19.0 feet to the height of high water as given above.

URGES FREEDOM FOR ALL VESSELS

Seattle Merchant Attacks the Coastwise Law and Declares That Discrimination Would Injure Local Ports.

"The people of Seattle should be clamoring for free tolls for foreign ships through the Panama Canal, and they would be if they understood the true situation," says Frederick Bausman, in an interview published yesterday in The Seattle Post-Intelligencer. "This toll question and the coastwise shipping law are two of the most important problems which confront us in the making of a big seaport here," said Mr. Bausman, who has recently returned from a tour of Europe. While in the Old Country he visited the principal seaport cities, studied their harbors, and says that Seattle has more natural advantages as a harbor than has almost any of the big European seaports.

"The coastwise shipping law is all wrong, and so is the proposition of making foreign ships pay a toll, while our own ships go through free. It is a fine thing for the New York and San Francisco shipowner, as it only tightens their hold and forces people to use their ships. What would people say if there should be a law enacted providing a penalty for shipping goods over the Canadian Pacific Railway? There would be a big roar of protest. Yet that is just what this toll question amounts to, as the cost is bound to fall on the shipper. It is all right to provide a toll for ships bound to the Orient, but those carrying cargoes for Pacific Coast points should go through free, or on the same terms as American vessels. It is not right that importers should be charged two taxes, one the duty for bringing an article into the country, and another for getting it through the Panama Canal.

Foreign Ships Kept Out

"The coastwise shipping law providing that foreign ships cannot engage in coastwise trade, is a great detriment to Seattle, and will keep many foreign ships from our harbor which otherwise would come here. San Francisco and Vancouver, B. C., are the cities benefited by this law, which looks so good at first glance. A steamship line is not going to take a small shipment for Seattle, and make the run in here, unless they can take another cargo from here. A boat running to San Francisco, for instance, and from there to Vancouver would have no object in coming to Seattle. It can carry no cargo from San Francisco to this port, nor can it take goods from here, except to some foreign port.

"There are few first-class harbors in Europe. Neither France, Spain nor Italy has a first-class harbor. All of them are on the sea, and directly exposed to the storms and wind. The great cost of the sea walls which are necessary, makes expansion difficult. Germany has two great harbors, both of them on rivers from fifty to seventy-five miles from the sea. These are Bremen and Hamburg. Austria has only the one harbor, on the Adriatic Sea.

"Seattle, with its contemplated improvements, will be amply prepared to take care of any trade which may come within the next few years, and we are so situated that expansion is easy."

Imprisoned in Ice Floes

The Senator, which arrived Monday in Seattle, from Nome, brought news of the imprisonment of the United States revenue cutter Bear, which was held fast in an Arctic ice pack near Point Barrow, and driven north at a rate of one mile an hour. Twenty-five miles from the point, the Bear sprang a leak, and was at the mercy of the winds for several days.

Carries Record Cargo

The British steamer Algoa, which has just completed loading at Linnton, on the Columbia River, and is now filling her bunkers at Tacoma, will carry the largest cargo of lumber that has ever left a Pacific Coast port. Her destination is Sydney, and she carries 6,048,475 feet to the Australian port.

AMUSEMENTS

Victoria Lady on Stage—More than usual interest is aroused in the presentation of "Green Stockings" this week by the Allen Players, in that Mrs. Michael Hallward will be one of the trio of English girls who are portrayed so delightfully in this comedy of domestic life. Mrs. Hallward will appear in the role of "Lady Evelyn Trenchard." She has had a wide range of experience with the best London companies. Mrs. Hallward is enjoying very much this short return to her chosen work, for it is well known that, once the stage has secured a place in one's affections, neither time nor absence can affect it. Witnessing a performance of "Green Stockings" will be in the nature of a little visit home to a great many, so faithfully is the spirit of English country life depicted. Even the local philharmonic concert of the small village comes in for its little thrust of gentle humor. The situation of the testy old father with too many daughters upon his hands to allow of his residence in his London club, the empty-headed youngster running for office, the profound selfishness of a little social circle—these and many others are among the easily-recognized instances in the play. "Green Stockings" will be played for the remainder of this week, with a matinee Saturday afternoon.

Explorers Rewarded

Out of the sum of money given by the Norwegian Storting as a reward to the crew that accompanied Roald Amundsen on his Antarctic expedition, 4,000 kroner goes to the four men who went with him on the final stage of the journey to the South Pole, and 3,000 to each of the other members of the party.

A Big Showing of New Fall Underwear

For Men, Women and Children, Direct From the Mills—See View St. Windows

SEE this magnificent display of New Fall Underwear for men, women and children, in the View Street windows today. Although this showing represents but a very small portion of our stock of underwear, yet it will convey to your mind a much better idea of the great variety of makes, materials, sizes and qualities we carry, in order to meet the requirements of each individual customer, than by anything we can say here in an advertisement. This big store is the headquarters for underwear of all descriptions, and this premier position has only been gained by the excellent values we are able to give, thus demonstrating the huge buying power of our three stores, which enables us to buy direct from the manufacturer

Women's and Girls' Woolen Underwear

IN this department there's an exceedingly large showing of all the best known makes and qualities, and there is also a very wide range of sizes. Whatever your requirements may be in this direction, you are sure of finding a garment that will suit you; and the prices are most reasonable. We quote a few of the lines here:

Women's Zenith Combinations. This is a very serviceable quality, being made from a mixture of three parts wool and one part cotton. The addition of cotton to this quality is just sufficient to prevent shrinkage in washing. They are made with high neck, long sleeves, and in ankle length. In sizes 34 to 42. Garment $1.75

Zenith Vests in the same quality as the combinations, and with high or low necks, short and long sleeves. Bust size 36 to 42. Each 90c

Drawers to match, come in ankle and knee lengths, at, each 90c

Winsome Combinations, made from good quality woolen mixtures, with high neck, long sleeve, ankle length, and in sizes 34 to 42. A very comfortable and warm garment to wear. Each $1.25

Shawwood Fleecy Cotton Combinations in natural and white; made with high neck, long sleeves and ankle length. Sizes 36 to 40. Each $1.25

Combinations. Watson's new "Klosed Krotch" spring needle style is an entirely new make for this season. It comes in a very fine quality of pure unshrinkable wool and made in three different styles—high and low neck, short, elbow and long sleeves, knee and ankle lengths; button front and fastening at the back with buttons. Sizes 32 to 40. A splendid new line at, per garment $2.50

Combinations. A splendid quality, made from unshrinkable pure wool (Watson's Brand), a most reliable garment and strongly recommended. Comes in high neck, long sleeves and ankle length; sizes 32 to 40 bust; colors white and natural. Per garment $2.00

Combinations of very fine knitted cotton; medium round neck, long, short and elbow sleeve, knee and ankle length. Sizes 32 to 40; button fronts. Per garment $1.75

Shawwood's Knitted Cotton Combinations, a good, serviceable quality for Fall wear; made with high neck, long sleeve, and in ankle length. Sizes 36 to 40. Per garment $1.00

Women's Vests in natural color, soft, fleecy cotton; a warm, comfortable garment, made with high neck and long sleeves. Each 50c

Women's Heavy Cotton Fleece-Lined Tights, in colors black, cream, navy and brown. Finished with elastic band at waist and knee and trimmed with ribbon bow. Special value at $1.00 and $1.25

Children's Combinations. A good, strong garment, made from soft, fleecy cotton, with high neck, long sleeve, ankle length, in button front, closed and button back. In all sizes from 3 to 12 years. Colors natural, cream and white. Priced according to size. Splendid value from 40c up to 90c

Men's and Boys' Fall Underwear

THE following list represents only a very small portion of our huge stock of Men's Underwear. A visit to the deparment on main floor, will enable you to make your choice easily and quickly. All sizes, weights and qualities are represented, and the prices are most reasonable:
